MISSION 'PERFECT'

. . . Apollo Paves Way To Moon

Aboard USS Essex (AP)—The Apollo 7 astronauts, back from space with everything they went up to get and happy with their "perfect mission," dug into thick steaks aboard this aircraft carrier Tuesday and prepared to fly to the mainland.

Their 11-day flight cleared the way for America's final steps to the moon.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham brought their cone-shaped space chariot scorching down from 265 miles out in space to a landing in the rain five miles from the Essex, waiting in the Atlantic Ocean near Bermuda.

"It's great to be back," Schirra said after he and his teammates were brought to the carrier by helicopter. "This mission went beautifully." The Apollo 7 crew was hustled into the carrier's sick bay for a complete physical examination, including treatment of their now-famous colds.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief of medical research and operations at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, said later that doctors on the carrier found some fluid in Eisele's right ear, but it was not considered serious. He said the crew reported suffering no pain during re-entry, but that Schirra became "somewhat nauseated" after the ocean landing.

Dr. Berry described the crew as "in really good spirits and in good shape.

The space doctor said he did not consider the flight a 100% medical success. He said the biomedical harnesses, which feed heartbeat and respiration of the crew to the ground, was particularly troublesome because of continual failure. Dr. Berry said if a moon-bound crew had the same problem, he would have asked for the flight to be brought back.

2 Solid Weeks

The crew now faces two solid weeks of debriefings, medical examinations and reports.

One of the first persons the crew talked to aboard the carrier was President Johnson.

The President told the crew by telephone, "We here in the capital and over the country and the world are so very proud of you this morning . . . We salute the three of you as well as the thousands of your space team . . . in great admiration and affection."

'An Honor'

Eisele replied: "Thank you very much, Mr. President. It was a real pleasure and an honor."

"Apollo 7 goes in my book as a perfect mission," said Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager.

He said that partly as a result of the success of Apollo 7, final consideration is now being given toward sending Aollo 8 on a flight around the moon. Phillips said a decision on the December flight will be made by mid-November.

Schirra and his teammates brought their spacecraft from the crystal purity of space into a dirty gray bank of thunderstorms and rain.

Upside Down

The craft rode its three orange and white parachutes to the surface of the water and promptly turned over in four-foot waves. It floated upside down, with only the heat shield on its blunt end above the surface.

Schirra activated a lever inflating three ballons around the apex, forcing the craft upright.

Until that point, the recovery fleet, searching helicopters and a national television audience were uncertain of the spacecraft's condition. Radio antennaes on the craft are in the apex which was some 10 feet underwater until Schirra uprighted it.

'Powder Puff Mechanics' Learning What Makes The Family Auto Run

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Even in these days of equal rights there are no men allowed in the "Powder Puff Mechanics" night class — except for the teacher.

A dozen women enrolled in the Lincoln Adult Division's auto mechanics class for ladies this fall. They don't intend to become mechanics or service station attendants—they just want to learn how to make emergency auto repairs and about basic care and maintenance.

Instructor Jerry Kohl, who also is the engine mechanics teacher at East High School, is attempting to give the women a "basic understanding of auto mechanics" in the 10-week course.

He plans to teach about the parts of an automobile and what makes them run so that the women will know what to look for if the car fails.

A lone woman driver stuck on the interstate may be able to see that there is just a loose ignition wire if she knows it should be tight when it is functioning properly, Kohl pointed out.

In other lessons, the ladies will be taught how to jump wires to start their cars in case they lose their keys, how to change a flat tire, and what to do when they run out of gas.

More Confident

The course "is designed to make a lady driver more confident of her driving," Kohl explained.

One of the students, Mrs. Patty Meier, is a pilot and wants to "learn everything I can about engines, including repair and maintenance."

A nun taking the course, Sister Phyllis Hunhoff who is administrator of the Madonna Home, said she had been driving for three years but did not know anything about a car. As an "added safety factor, and to have an idea of what needs to be done to take care of a car," she enrolled.

An older woman said she had never needed to make an emergency auto repair, but thought the information would help her "just in case."

Service Needs

Another aspect of the course is to teach the women what maintenance services are needed, such as oil changes, and when.

Be teaching the women to know when their car's air filter or fan belt is worn and needs to be replaced, the class "may save the women from being pigeons for disreputable mechanics and repairmen," according to industrial arts coordinator Robert Law.

Kohl also intends to indicate approximate costs for certain repairs and reasons for possible high costs.

Foreign Minister Of France Says LBJ Making 'Courageous' Moves

By United Press International

Faint signs of progress were reported Tuesday as the United States pressed a new Vietnam peace offensive.

The foreign minister of France, a nation which has sharply criticized U.S. policies, said President Johnson was making "courageous" moves toward peace and announced they were beginning to bear fruit.

In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu issued a statement attempting to play down reports that the United States and South Vietnam were at odds over terms for a complete halt in the American bombing of North Vietnam.

A day after the U.S. returned 14 prisoners to North Vietnam, the Hanoi government broadcast a demand that the United States "set free immediately, without any condition or any agreement between the two sides, all citizens of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, still illegally detained by the U.S." U.S. officials said the 14 were the last in American hands.

The National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong, said it wanted to be recognized by the United States and negotiate with it on the war. The NLF said it was the legal representative of the South Vietnamese people.

Foreign Minister Michel Debre praised the American peace drive. His statements took on added significance because of the fact that he met in Washington 10 days ago with Johnson.

"President Johnson, by a courageous act, has declared a completely new direction of American policies," Debre said in an interview with Radio Luxembourg. "We can see its fruits these days."

Thieu Issued his statement two hours after conferring with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker for the fifth time in a week.

The Saigon communique said Thieu "does not oppose the cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam when we have good reason to believe that North Vietnam intends to join us in de-escalating the war and in entering into prompt and direct talks with the government of the Republic of Vietnam."

Trade, Industry Rate Highest In Future Employment Needs

Some 48% of the persons needed to fill new positions and vacancies in the Lancaster County labor market by three years from now will be in trade and industrial occupations, the Lincoln Board of Education was told Tuesday night.

The finding was a result of research conducted by student employment supervisor Ed Schwartzkopf to identify the current employement profile and to project personnel requirements for the county for one year and three years.

The research, conducted by a 25% random sampling of some 4,492 firms in the county and projected for all existing firms, was based on a total of 57,517 persons currently employed in the county.

Only 10-15% of the persons employed in the occupational areas were designated professional and managerial employes in positions requiring a college degree, it was pointed out. The other employment categories ranging from domestic workers to electricians would require from none to several years of post high school training.

The trades and industrial occupations currently employing some 20,096 of the county labor force includes such categories as food service and construction, which have a high rate of turnover, Schwartzkopf said. Some 13,712 persons will be needed during the next three years.

The other occupational area's needs projected for the same period were agricultural, 280 persons; distributive, 3,646; health, 2,372; wage-earning home economics, 184; business, 6,208; others, 2,130.

The school board had requested the manpower study when it proposed to call for another vote on the community junior college Nov. 5.

Discussion Object Of Hamilton's Bid

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three stories on the campaigns of the candidates for Congress in the First District.)

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Harry Bruce Hamilton, 26, an intense young man who gives a damn, stood on the stage in the auditorium at Lincoln Northeast High School and explained why he — a student himself — is a candidate for Congress.

He is running, he said, to force a discussion of the vital issues of 1968.

That's why the New Party was formed in the First Congressional District, he said. And that's why Bruce Hamilton is neglecting his academic assignments as a senior at the University of Nebraska College of Law to devote his time and energy to a political campaign.

The two regular parties and their candidates have failed to respond to the voice of the people, Hamilton believes.

Although the people voted for change in primary after primary through the spring and summer of 1968, Hamilton said, the parties failed to provide it when they chose their presidential nominees.

Pork Barrel

And, in Nebraska's First District, Republican Rep. Robert Denney and his Demcratic opponent, former Rep. Clair Callan, were preparing to do battle over the pork barrel, Hamilton contended.

"Who can reach into the kitty in Washington and bring back the most goodies?" Hamilton said. "That's what they talked about. They would not have even mentioned the important issues."

And so the New Party — formed in August at a convention attended by 550 persons — decided to offer a candidate, and Hamilton was chosen in mid-September.

The issues? Vietnam, poverty and racism.

"And they are local issues," Hamilton argues.

Czech Refugee Flights To U.S. To Start Friday

New York Times Service

Geneva — The first large-scale departure of Czechoslovak refugees for the United States since the Soviet-led invasion of their country will take place Friday.

By that time, 170 persons will depart from Vienna in a plane chartered by the Inter-governmental Committee for European Migration.

Walter M. Besterman, the deputy director, told the agency's executive committee Tuesday that arrangements had been completed to fly between 160 and 170 Czechoslovaks to the U.S. every week from now until the end of February.

Virtually all of the persons leaving Friday have obtained conditional entry into the U.S. under a speeded-up procedure authorized by the U.S. refugee program, established in 1965, Besterman said.

Troops Advised To Avoid London

New York Times Service

London — The 26,000 American servicemen in Britain were advised Tuesday to stay away from London this weekend because of a scheduled demonstration against the Vietnam war.

The demonstraton on Sunday is expected by some to be Britain's largest since the 1930's. The sponsors say 100,000 persons will march through central London, and there has been much talk about possible incidents of violence.

American military commanders issued the advisory to their troops after consultation with the U.S. Embassy.

Nixon Win Not Certain

© New York Times Service

By TOM WICKER

Washington — Two weeks before Americans elect a new president, a cloud of caution hangs over the wide-spread belief that they will choose the Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon, over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

This wary attitude, shared by most politicians and political observers, is based less on hard evidence than on three relatively unusual factors. They are:

—The presence in the race of George Wallace of Alabama, the strongest third-party candidate since 1924.

—The memory of 1948, when one out of every seven voters made up his mind in the last two weeks of that year's campaign — and three-quarters of these late deciders chose the underdog, President Harry S. Truman over favorite, Republican Thomas E. Dewey.

—The ample evidence that thousands of voters are not enthusiastic about either of the major party candidates and therefore are either undecided or lukewarm in their support for one of them.

Nixon Leads In Polls

Nixon maintains an ample lead in the major public opinion polls and has consistently held big leads in the state-by-state surveys made by the New York Times, Newsweek and other organizations. Nixon and his associates exude confidence and are backed by the evidence of any number of polls, as well as the private testimony of numerous local political figures.

Figures published Tuesday by the Gallup Poll gave Nixon 43% of the vote of those likely to cast a ballot, against 31% for Humphrey and 20% for Wallace. This left 9% undecided.

The Harris Poll's most recent figures gave Nixon 40%, Humphrey 35% and Wallace 18%, with 7% undecided. More important, this represented a net gain over the previous Harris Poll of three points for Humphrey, with Wallace falling off a like amount.

Uncertainty

This gain and the discrepancy between the lead ascribed to Nixon by Harris — 5 points — and by Gallup — 12 points — have raised some uncertainty as to which poll reflects the situation more accurately.

Another cautionary factor about this year's polls, in the minds of some political analysts, is the difficulty of translating public votes directly into electoral votes, particularly in a three-way-race.

For example, an extremely small plurality of the popular vote — say, 34% — could swing all of New York's 43 electoral votes to a single candidate. On the other hand, a huge popular majority for Nixon in, say, Nebraska, would bring him only five electoral votes.

Since Wallace is believed likely to take anywhere from 40 to more than 100 electoral votes, the number of electoral votes from which Nixon or Humphrey must fashion the required majority of 270 will be smaller than usual.

Nixon Would Win

Despite such uncertainties, however, most political analysts agreee that if the election were to be held today, Nixon would win. An experienced New Jersey Republican who supported Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for the 1968 presidential nomination is one example.

He now says he was wrong in his pre-convention belief that only the liberal Rockefeller could carry New Jersey.

Between what he regards as a poor campaign by Humphrey and the Democrats, and the inroads made on the normally Democratic blue-collar vote by Wallace, he believes Nixon will win the state's 17 electoral votes by a large plurality.

A similar thesis is put forward by a high-ranking Ohio Democrat who believes that "Wallace is killing us" in that state, with its 26 electoral votes.

Would Doom HHH

[illegible]hese two estimates prove [illegible]te, they would all but [illegible] the Humphrey can[illegible]. Since Wallace is expected to run strongly in the South, at the least, and Nixon is the favorite in most border and Western states, Humphrey would almost surely have to sweep most of the big industrial states, plus Texas, to win.

The loss of Ohio and New Jersey would be crippling, therefore, and Nixon is universally regarded as the favorite in Illinois and California. Even in Michigan, with its huge labor vote, and Minnesota, Humphrey's home state, usually reliable non-partisan polls have given Nixon narrow leads.

On the other hand, the obvious closeness of the race in Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and—some believe—Texas, tends to encourage the Democrats. Taken together with the gain registered in the Harris Poll, the situation in these major states permits the belief among some Democrats and some analysts that Humphrey is coming on strong to a Truman-like finish.

Wives Rejoice

Space Center, Houston (AP) — First there was the uncertainty. Then came champagne and bright, relieved smiles. And then, a few private minutes on the telephone with husbands who had been 11 days in space.

"I'm very glad it's all over. It's been a long 11 days," said Mrs. Walter Cunningham. She emphasized l-o-n-g.

The longest hour of the longest day was the last one in the flight of Apollo 7 Tuesday as the spacecraft bulled through the earth's atmosphere, then fell silent.

For 20 minutes the families of Cunningham, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele could only guess what had happened to the astronauts.

In the Schirra house in Timber Cove, Jo Schirra smiled at her guests, got up and stood near a coffee bar so she could better hear the Mission Control squawk box.

At Nassau Bay, Lo Ella Cunningham was surprised at her own calmness.

In El Lago, surrounded by some two dozen people, Harriet Eisele dandled her 4-year-old son on her knee, telling him: "You'll see Daddy soon."

But not until the television picture showed their men on the deck of the Essex did the wives relax.

"It looks like they've lost weight," said Mrs. Schirra.

"He looks great, beard and all," said Mrs. Cunningham.

Apollo 7 Climaxes Fantastic Effort

By HOWARD BENEDICT

Space Center, Houston (AP) — "Fire in the spacecraft."

That dread cry 21 months ago shot shivers of fear through the blockhouse at Cape Kennedy's Launch Complex 34.

Stunned controllers watched helplessly on a television screen as flames raced through the cabin of the Apollo 1 spaceship, killing the three astronauts trapped inside.

The deaths of Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee shocked a nation accustomed to uninterrupted success in the man-in-space program.

It was even more shocked when a board of review concluded that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and its principal spacecraft contractor, North American Aviation Corp., had been guilty of poor management, negligence, sloppy work and failure to adequately consider the safety of the astronauts.

America's march toward the moon took a long detour.

A massive effort went into correcting the deficiencies. Management was overhauled and strengthened, the spacecraft redesigned and made practically fireproof and numerous safety procedures initiated.

The price tag was $410 million.

Splashdown Payoff

The payoff came Tuesday when Apollo 7 splashed to a near-pinpoint landing, climaxing one of America's most perfect manned space flights.

It was a proud moment for the thousands who have worked so hard to bounce back from the fire.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, the tough Apollo program manager, expressed the feeling of all when he told newsmen:

"Apollo 7 goes in my book as a perfect mission. In my experience this is the first space operation that's accomplished more than 100% of its objectives. Our official count is 101.% It accomplished everything we set out to do, and added a few more minor objectives as well."

Phillips said Apollo 7 has opened the door to a possible flight around the moon in December by the three-man Apollo 8 crew. He said the decision will be made about mid-November when all the Apollo 7 data has been evaluated. He expressed confidence a lunar landing can be made next year.

George M. Low, manager of NASA's Apollo Spacecraft Program Office, took time to praise North American Rockwell Corp. (formerly North American Aviation) for "essentially rebuilding the spacecraft, and working it over, getting it delivered. Its performance, of course, speaks for itself."

The Apollo 7 craft became known as "Wally's Ship," after the commander, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Several months ago Schirra said he would not fly the vehicle until he was sure it would work.

Tuesday he proved it would. And America once more is on its way to the moon.

Texas Demos Unite For HHH

World News

Austin, Tex. (AP) — Texas Democrats, often feuding, turned out from Gov. John Connally to President Johnson's young grandson Tuesday night in a show of unity for Hubert H. Humphrey.

Connally, conservative governor and friend of the President, and liberal Sen. Ralph Yarborough put aside their political differences and stood shoulder to shoulder with other top party politicians to welcome the vice president and accompany him on a hop-scotch tour of this critical Lone Star State.

One of the few top Texas Democractic politicians missing was Johnson himself — but an emissary arrived in a surprise visit at Humphrey airport rally in Dallas, the President's wife, Lady Bird.

Mounting the platform with the Democratic presidential candidate, Mrs. Johnson said she was on her way to Washington, saw the rally and decided to pay her respects to Humphrey, whom she called "a good vice president and a warm friend."

Bandanas

In Austin, Humphrey was welcomed by a large airport crowd that included a couple more of Johnsons, daughter Luci and her son, Patrick, both decked out in green-and-white Humphrey bandanas.

Humphrey carefully carried the President's grandson in his arms from the plane through a knot of welcomers and newsmen while young Patrick happily chewed on the end of a small American flag.

Even Connally, who failed to show up when Humphrey first campaigned in the state last month, was impressed by the unit show.

He told airport crowds at Waco that if people didn't think Humphrey could unify the country, they should look at the assemblage on the platform — with Texas liberals and conservatives sitting side by side — and he called Humphrey a "miracle worker."

One Of Better

From the airport in Austin, to a hotel downtown, portions of Humphrey's motorcade route were aligned, particularly in the Negro sections, with supporters and spectators. It was one of the better receptions for the candidate in his campaign.

Humphrey said the reason Nixon will not debate him is that the Republican candidate does not want to expose "a public record that is against the people."

Humphrey again denounced Nixon for failing to debate him.

$23,537,627 Budget Approved By Lutherans

. . . Refuse To Accept Selective Conscientious Objection

Omaha (UPI) — The American Lutheran Church (ALC) in its convention closing session here Tuesday approved a budget of $23,537,627 for carrying on the church's 1969 work program.

The budget is an increase of nearly $1 million over the current schedule of expenditures, which total $22,566,500.

Included in the 1969 allocations is the sum of $511,552 to meet "unspecified urban crisis needs." The sum will be administered by a special committee assigned to the office of the church president.

The budget also includes revisions in investment policies to demonstrate concern for "disadvantaged segments of society," according to Dr. George S. Schultz, executive secretary of the board of trustees.

He said the board has put into effect a plan "to seek out from among the numerous investment opportunities those that qualify within sound investment principles and at the same time will express tangibly and directly the church's concern for minority peoples."

New Investments

Dr. Schultz said new investments to be sought will relate to assistance in equal housing opportunities, personal equity in improved housing, stabilization of minority communities, and development of improved apartment complexes.

The convention also adopted a resolution urging the ALC's 4,906 congregations to make special efforts to increase contributions during the remaining fiscal year.

Declining receipts during the first three quarters of the year resulted last week in a 5% reduction in appropriations to the church's boards and commissions.

The board of trustees action in ordering the cut noted that at the present rate the church will fall nearly $1 million short of meeting its 1968 commitments.

Refusal to accept selective conscientious objection highlighted the most controversial and the longest session of the week-long convention.

The convention voted 479-292 to refer for further study a proposed policy statement which would have committed the church to work for legislation to ease the burden of young men who object to military service in a particular war.

'Vietnam 1968'

The convention also adopted a statement entitled "Vietnam 1968" which analyzes Christian implications of the war in Southeast Asia.

The Vietnam document expressed "growing anxiety over our country's loss of prestige and moral leadership due to war," and said that "use of military power must be guided by an emphasis on human rights and values."

"The tragic ambiguity of any military action is that it tends to ruin the created order, to subordinate other values to military necessity, and to destroy a nation's population and social order," the statement said. "Christians as well as other citizens must share responsibility for helping to define the objectives of foreign policy and to subject its operation to critical review."

Youth observers were among those who had hoped to put the ALC on record, with certain other protestant church bodies, in asking recognition for the right of men to reject military service in a war which they regard as unjust.

Leading opponents of the principle included former military chaplains and war veterans.

Dewey Is Dubious Humphrey 'Can Overcome Nixon's Lead'

Omaha (AP) — Two-time Republican presidential nominee Thomas Dewey returned to Omaha for the first time in 20 years Tuesday, predicting a Republican victory next month.

THOMAS DEWEY

He told a news conference that while he was wary of pollsters' predictions, he doesn't think Vice President Hubert Humphrey can overcome the lead of Republican Richard Nixon.

Dewey was the unsuccessful nominee for the GOP in 1944 and 1948.

Though pundits have compared Nixon's campaign with the former New York governor's 1948 bid against President Harry S. Truman, Dewey said there were numerous differences between the two races.

He noted that in 1948 it was the president who was seeking re-election. He said the country then had the capacity to handle its economy and the United States was at peace.

Dewey said he does not expect George Wallace to fare well outside of the South and doubts that the election will be thrown to the House of Representatives by the third party effort.

Denies Job Offer

He denied that Nixon had offered him the post of secretary of state.

"I retired from public life 14 years ago, and I am inclined to stay there," Dewey said. "Besides, I don't think Mr. Nixon has offered any cabinet post to anyone."

Dewey termed U.S. foreign policy a disaster and criticized the Democratic administration's attitude toward riot control.

Even a cease-fire in Vietnam now would not affect the outcome of the presidential election, he said.

"With the country in as bad a shape as it is, the key issue this year is to throw the rascals out," the former governor added.

Dewey last visited Omaha during the 1948 Nebraska primary campaign.

Failure Of Congress To OK Reform Bill Hit By Denney

Fremont (AP) — Rep. Robert Denney, R-Neb., said Tuesday the Democrats' failure to consider legislation for congressional reform "will have forced the 91st Congress to organize under the same outmoded rules as before.

"And every citizen will continue to pay for the inefficiencies of Congress," he said at a barbecue here on the second day of his campaign caravan through the First District.

Hopefully, the Republicans will gain control of the House in the upcoming election in which case "we will move that reform bill or a better one onto the floor where the full House can express its will," he said.

The recommendations of the Joint Committee on Congressional Reform were passed by the Senate in 1967, but have been locked in the House Rules Committee, Denney said.

"There is voluminous evidence that reform is needed," Denney said. "Congress was still considering appropriations bills in September, two months after the beginning of the new fiscal year. Such delay slows down the executive departments and disrupts state and local government too where federal grants are involved."

Flight Steward Dies In Crash

Bellevue (AP) — A flight steward residing here was one of 24 Americans killed Monday when an Air Force C-47 developed engine trouble and crashed in the Central Highlands in Vietnam, his family said Tuesday.

T. Sgt. Donald W. Bruck, 41, who had more than 24 years of service, was stationed at Offutt Air Force Base for about eight years before leaving for Vietnam last February.

One of his last assignments was on a plane carrying American Independent Party vice president candidate Curtis LeMay on a tour of the war zone last week, a family friend said.

Survivors include his wife, a son and a daughter.

Whitaker First In Saddle Bronc Riding At Ames

University of Nebraska Rodeo Club members placed in several events in a National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) performance at Ames, Iowa.

Chip Whitaker of Chambers placed first in saddle bronc riding; sixth in calf roping. Don Coslor, Sargent, placed sixth in bullriding and Mike Kuchera of Rose placed sixth in bareback riding. John Sennett of Mason City placed third in calf roping and fifth in bulldogging.

Other NU participants included Jerry Coslor, Sargent; Ann Wendell, Wilcox; Greg Phifer, Mason City; J. C. McHatton, Lewellen; Vern Friesen, Lushton; Larry Radant, Madison.

Robert Cattle Sr. Dies At Seward; Rites Thursday

Seward — Robert T. Cattle, Sr., 79, Seward attorney, died Monday. Services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church here.

Mr. Cattle was chairman of the board of the Cattle National Bank and a former member of the Seward School Board. He was a lifetime Seward resident.

He was a member of the Nebraska State Bar Association, American Bankers Association, St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Chamber of Commerce, Oliver Lodge 38 AF&AM and Lincoln Scottish Rite.

Survivors include his wife, Mercedes; sons, John W., Robert T. Jr., both of Seward, Walter of Minneapolis, Minn.; daughters, Mrs. H. E. (Dorothy) Peery of Oxford, Miss., Sarah of Columbus, Minn.; sister, Mrs. W. G. Pauley of Hastings, and seven grandchildren.

Injuries Fatal For Omahan, 64

Omaha (AP) — Floyd C. Peterson, 64, Omaha, has become the latest victim of Nebraska traffic.

Police Traffic Sgt. Joe Horky said Peterson suffered multiple cuts and internal injuries in a two-car collision at an Omaha intersection early Saturday. He died the following day at an Omaha hospital.

Officers identified the driver of the other car as Robert E. Zimmerly, 19, Elkhorn.

Buddhist Priest, Ex-Nebraskan, Burns AF Papers

Tokyo (AP) — A Nebraska man who became a Buddhist priest says he burned his U.S. Air Force discharge papers during Monday's wild anti-war riots at Tokyo's Shinkiku railroad station.

Brian Victoria, 28, of Omaha, said his action was to protest "U.S. support of reactionary governments" in some nations.

Victoria said he served in the Air Force Reserve at Lincoln, Neb., 1957-63. He has lived in Japan the past seven years.

Nearly 1,000 Japanese students were arrested and at least 150 injured during the rioting.

Micek Supports State Income Tax

Columbus (UPI) — Columbus Mayor Barney Micek said he supports Gov. Norbert Tiemann in efforts to retain the state income tax.

Micek, a Democrat, said he backs the governor in his stand on retaining the income tax because if the income tax is voted out, it will mean a higher sales tax rate.

"I don't believe the workers in low income groups should be forced to pay more taxes," Micek said.

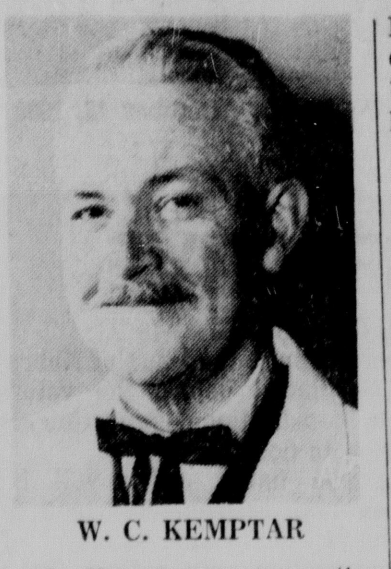
Game Commission Member Kemptar Dies

Ravenna — W. C. (Bud) Kemptar, 58, member of the Nebraska Game Commission, died Tuesday at Grand Island. He would have been 59 Wednesday.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the United Methodist Church in Cairo.

Mr. Kemptar was appointed to the Game Commission Sept. 6, 1964. His five-year term would have expired next September.

He was a native of Cairo, attended Kearney State College and took a short course on fish, game and land management at the University of Colorado.



W. C. KEMPTAR

Mr. Kemptar was an active member of the Izaak Walton League and was a past director and vice president of the national organization, past president of the state league and past president of the Ravenna Izaak Walton League.

In August, Mr. Kemptar became the fourth man to receive the "Honorary Nebraskalander Award." Only one other Nebraskan has received the award.

In 1955 he was the seventh person to receive the Kennedy Award, given by Dr. H. C. Kennedy of Omaha to the person who makes the greatest contribution to Nebraska conservation. Mr. Kemptar was recognized for his invention of the flushing bar, a device which when attached to mowing machines in hay fields, flushes out wild game ahead of the sickles.

Survivors include his wife, Alice; son, Charles of Ravenna; sister, Mrs. Edwin Schuett of Cairo; two granddaughters, and several nieces and nephews.

Nebraska Pilot Participates In Raid On Enemy Barges

Saigon (UPI) — The Air Force said a pilot from Omaha, Neb., took part in a Sunday raid of F4 Phantoms on the lower part of the southern panhandle of North Vietnam.

He was identified as 1st Lt. Rodger L. Howard, 24.

Nebraska News

Another pilot on the raid, Lt. Col. Ralph D. Gibson, 43, of Mt. Carmel, Ill., described the action.

He said the Phantom jets went through a break in the clouds and "we saw a convoy of supply barges distinctly silhouetted against the shore." He said the Phantoms dived in and opened fire with 2.75-inch rockets.

"The barges just burst into flames," Gibson said. "Two sank immediately and another continued to burn. We didn't even receive a single round of antiaircraft artillery fire. I don't think they could see us."

Pilots on the raid said they were continued to be bothered by bad weather from the northeast monsoon now sweeping from China over North Vietnam.

Protection Added

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Dave Martin, R—Neb., said Tuesday that all risk federal crop insurance protection will be added on corn in Kearney and Phelps Counties to already existing federal crop insurance programs.

'69 Impala Custom Coupe

Just sitting there, this '69 Chevrolet can do four things competitive cars can't:

It can wash its headlights.
It can apply liquid tire chain to its rear wheels.
It can silently defog or defrost the rear window.
It can keep you cool or warm automatically with Comfortron—the self-adjusting air-conditioning system.

And once you've added all these wonderful devices to a new Chevrolet, you just can't imagine why anyone would give a second thought to a second-place car.

The headlight washers and liquid tire chain for traction on slippery roads are operated at the touch of a button from the driver's seat. So is the silent new rear-window defroster. Invisible ceramic strips on the glass heat up to keep the window clear.

Also available: Chevrolet's Light Monitoring System that lets you know from inside if all your outside lights are working, full four-speaker stereo, a smooth 3-speed Turbo Hydra-matic transmission. All in a car made quieter, made stronger, made more comfortable. Now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

By order of the State Supreme Court, the issue of Nebraska's income tax will now be placed before the voters on Nov. 5. That makes it 16 constitutional amendments the electorate will be called upon to decide.

Ahead of the income tax in ballot order will be Amendments Number Fourteen and Fifteen. Fourteen is not really complicated, providing for state issuance of revenue bonds for highway construction with a three-fifths vote of the Legislature.

To our way of thinking, the question is whether we want to begin getting caught up on our backlog of highway needs or continue our stop-gap approach. It will cost about the same either way. With bonds, you pay interest and with pay-as-you-go financing, you get stuck with constantly rising prices.

The bond approach would permit this state to begin getting caught up and, perhaps, ultimately reach a stage where its construction on highways was meeting current needs. Only one other state, Arizona, has never used revenue bonds for highway construction and Nebraska shows up poorly in comparison with other states as a result of this situation.

That, really, is about all there is to it. A vote for the highway revenue bond financing is highly recommended.

Also worth the support of voters is Amendment Fifteen, to raise the salaries of legislators from $200 to $400 a month. This is not an attempt to pay senators what they are worth or to make the job a full-time one to attract more people.

It is simply an effort to provide state senators with an equitable remuneration. The current level of pay does not compensate senators for their out-of-pocket expenses of the biennial sessions they attend and the variety of committee work they are called upon to do throughout their terms of office.

This brings us to the income tax amendment. Surely, everyone by now must have a pretty good understanding of the issue here. It is neither totally an economic nor a legalistic constitutional question.

Granted, without the income tax, state spending would be reduced simply because the source of state revenue would be so restricted that an adequate tax base would not remain. But this would mean a curtailment of many programs and services in parks, conservation, education, health services, institutions, etc.

It would unquestionably make Nebraska a second-rate state in the area of public programs. While our tax bills would look attractive, the environment in which we live would be greatly damaged and many people would not want to locate and live here.

Also, if the income tax is constitutionally prohibited, it would mean a substantial increase in the sales tax and other excise taxes at the state level and in the property tax at the local levels of government. State aid to local governments, now the equivalent of 10 to 15 mills of property tax, would doubtless be eliminated and the loss would be made up by increased property taxes at that local level.

Legalistically, elimination of the income tax would narrow the overall tax base in the state, thereby destroying the equity of the diversified base we now have. With its $7 per person per year food tax credit, the income tax helps balance the total tax load among those most able to pay.

Also, it is poor government to constitutionally limit the taxing authority of any agency. Government should be free to establish the kind of tax system it feels is best and then held accountable for the system and what it spends.

The more restrictive you become constitutionally, the closer you come to anarchy and to a form of government that is totally unable to meet the needs of the people it is supposed to serve. Among all 16 amendments, the change to prohibit the state from using the income tax is the most deadly and damaging of all.

Cuisine Offered So Far Will Limit Space Travel

NEW YORK—It should be clear by now that the moon is not apt to be crowded by tourists, even by the hardy breed of Jet Setters that likes to be fustest at the newest resorts.

I could afford the gear. It's the cost of chow that will keep me home.

It has cost the United States $200 per meal or $600 per day to feed each astronaut in Apollo 7, or a flat sum of $19,800 for the 11-day Apollo cruise around the world.

And what food! No Poularde de Bresse au Vin Jaune et a la Creme! No Les Quenelles de Brochet Lyonnaise! No Asperges a la Sauce Normande! No Dom Perignon '59! No Souffle au Grand Marnier!

Not even any of Mom's apple pie! Not even at $200 per meal, a sum for which even two persons can eat a modest luncheon, plus a bottle of Taittinger's, at 21 or The Colony in New York, Le Grand Vefour in Paris or, say, Riches in Stockholm.

What our brave astronauts were faced with three times a day was freeze-dried dehydrated gunk in bite sizes which they could eat in two ways. They could rehydrate the stuff in a plastic bag by adding water (hot or cold) with a hand-held water gun.

Or they could pop a bite-size snack in their respective mouths and then take a drink of water (hot or cold). And don't think the hot water wasn't a refinement over previous astronaut food! Only cold water for rehydration had been available in past flights.

Even with hot water available at mealtimes, it is obvious that the paying tourist of the future is going to grouse about the food on space ships unless the cuisine is improved.

Since the advent of the passenger plane, all of which are more or less alike in speed and creature comforts, the savage competition among airlines both domestic and foreign has been for the passenger's stomach. Few of us who fly have even basic knowledge of what keeps a plane in the air. But we can all read the menu.

We may not like the movie, but if the filet mignon is done to a "T," and if a glass of champagne comes with the dessert, we are apt to think the airline is run to perfection and that any flight is sensational.

Every man is a gourmet in the air.

Space travel is unthinkable as long as the traveler has to put a dehydrated cube in his mouth, think "roast beef rare" and then gulp water to get it down the hatch.

Faults Of One-Ways

If fault is being found with the one-way street system in Lincoln, it is not surprising. A great number of things have contributed to the disenchantment that seems to exist in regard to the one-ways. In answer to Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis, an evaluation of the system will be made by the city's traffic engineering department.

The engineers will not find out what is wrong because they will look at the system from a statistical rather than a human point of view. Of course, the system is new and anything new takes some getting used to. People need to get more familiar with our one-way system and once they do, it will be more readily accepted.

But a lot of things are still wrong. We have a stubby one-way system that confuses people — streets running one-way for a few blocks and then reverting to two-way traffic. It contributes to the feeling that you never know where you are going.

Additionally, we are traffic-light-crazy in this town. We have wasted thousands of dollars putting up expensive street light signals for temporary traffic plans. A lot of the signals now are improper for the one-way system, stopping people ridiculously short of the intersections they are about to enter.

Next, we have always been lousy and niggardly in marking traffic lanes and this still persists, despite reports of a new method of painting lanes soon to be inaugurated. We switched to one-ways with lane markings that left everyone confused. Also, we still have diagonal parking and that is a nightmare for moving traffic, particularly the narrow lanes we use in an effort to get the maximum use of every inch of paving. In short, the city botched up what is normally a good system and shouldn't expect anyone to be satisfied with it.

Two Decisions For Wallace

One wonders what emotions George Wallace felt as the federal government which he so loathes cranked out two decisions in his favor in one day.

First the U.S. Supreme Court said that the State of Ohio must place Wallace's name on the November election ballot, thus making for all time the path of third party candidates more smooth.

And then the Federal Communications Commission (one of those agencies full of "pointy-headed bureaucrats") ruled that Wallace must be included in any television debates among presidential candidates.

Thus the federal government, which supposedly is against all the "little men" who are supporting Wallace, came out in favor — twice — of the "little man" in the presidential contest. As it turns out, then, the federal cards are not stacked against the American Independent Party and in favor of the "national Republican" and "national Democrat" parties. Equal justice applies to all parties — which should (but won't) shake the faith of the people behind Wallace.

The decisions were quite an object lesson. It appears that the American democracy has room for dissenters on the right as well as dissenters on the left. And that horrible, horrible Supreme Court, which has handcuffed and shackled the forces of "law and order" in this country, was, as usual, in the forefront of the fight to keep this an open society.

The Wallace party is a group of persons anxious about the future of America. The latest federal rulings should assuage some of their fears.

Speculation On Value Of The Public Poll And Its Place In Analysis Or Influence

WASHINGTON — The battle of the polls is taking precedence over the oratory with the presidential campaign in the home stretch. Pollsters both public and private are jittery as the sampling process becomes an instrument to sway the voter, or so the charge is, rather than merely a profile of opinion.

Gallup versus Harris, Richard Nixon's private pollsters versus Hubert Humphrey's private samplers — the landscape is strewn with challenging percentages of what the citizen will do when he walks into the privacy of the polling booth on Nov. 5. Nixon's allies are working hard to knock down polls favorable to Humphrey and the Humphrey camp responds by disclosing Nixon's own samplings differing from the national estimates as put out by the big polling organizations.

A comic aspect of the battle of the polls is that Humphrey's lieutenants claim to have access to Nixon's private figures, and they assume that the Nixon strategists have a pipe line to their figures. In some states the Humphrey estimates show Nixon with a stronger lead than do the Nixon samples.

Although the Nixon victory chorus grows louder and more insistent, for the first time doubts have begun to creep in about the inevitability of a Nixon triumph. Analyst Louis Bean who forecast the election of Harry Truman in 1948 when the polls and the commentators had Thomas E. Dewey the winner calculates the Humphrey-Nixon split at 50-50. He notes, moreover, that if Humphrey should gain votes in the last two weeks at the same rate as did Barry Goldwater in 1964, the Democratic candidate would win. Goldwater was so far behind at the home stretch that the 11 or 12 points he gained — not reflected in the final polling because of the time lag in interviewing and computing — could not overtake Lyndon Johnson.

Bean, a veteran voter analyst, believes the polls showing an overwhelming Nixon victory have hurt Humphrey. They have created a bandwagon psychology that Nixon is shrewdly exploiting. This raises a serious question about the role of the polls in the political process. And if by an outside chance '68 should be another '48, the status of the polls would come under stern examination.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is a tricky business. Don Muchmore, a respected pollster in California, showed in a statewide survey Humphrey 33 per cent, Nixon 44. But a private poll Muchmore conducted for the Democrats with a sample of 800 gave Nixon 43.6 and Humphrey 41.6.

"How come this discrepancy?" Lawrence O'Brien, Humphrey's campaign manager, asked Muchmore. "After all, we paid you a sizable chunk of money for that private poll."

The answer was that in the poll Muchmore conducted for the Los Angeles Times, he asked the question: "How would you vote if the election were held today?" In the poll for the Democrats he sought to establish that the individual was a registered voter and that he expected to cast a ballot on Nov. 5 and the question was: "How will you vote on Election Day?" This reduced the undecideds from 16 per cent to 8.6 and it cut George Wallace's strength by a percentage point to 6.1.

The commentators tended to show Massachusetts either close or leaning to Nixon A poll taken by the Boston Globe gave Humphrey 44, Nixon 31, Wallace 8 and 17 undecided. This seemed to the Globe solid evidence of how the state will go.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, more than any other candidate, relied on his standing in the polls.

But the polls backfired on Rockefeller. A Gallup poll released prematurely a week before the Miami Beach convention showed Nixon leading the Democratic candidates by wider margins than Rockefeller. Two days later Harris had Rockefeller ahead of Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy, with Nixon trailing both. The Gallup-Harris effort to explain this discrepancy was something less than convincing.

In the Harris poll prior to the latest return showing Humphrey with a four-point gain, there was a discrepancy between Gallup and Harris of four percentage points. Different times for interviewing is the explanation of the Gallup people, with opinion volatile in an unpredictable year.

Lesson In Budget-Cutting

WASHINGTON — "The cost of government," said Sen. Reed Smoot more than 40 years ago, "will continue to increase. I care not what party is in power."

This is the most familiar but by no means the only lesson to be drawn from the failure of the great budget-cutting drive of 1968 to reduce government expenditures below what was projected in January. And it is a lesson that might usefully be kept in mind as, in the campaign homestretch, Nixon denounces spendthrift Democrats and Humphrey belabors pinchpenny Republicans.

There is some justice in both epithets but the greater truth is that circumstances not directly under political control contribute about as much to government expenditures as does a president's program — with consequent effects upon inflation, prices, unemployment and the balance of payments.

But there is more than that to be said about the remarkable events of the past year. They began last January when President Johnson's economic experts estimated federal spending at $186 billion in the fiscal year that will end next June 30. Because of his fear of inflation and the imbalance of payments, Johnson renewed his request for a $10 billion income tax surcharge.

After a six-month deadlock, Congress voted the surcharge but only after ordering a $6 billion mandatory reduction in actual expenditures — the first such forced cut in history. This was accepted by Johnson with great reluctance, and his supporters feared it would cause wholesale slashes in social programs, most of which were regarded as underfinanced to begin with.

As it turns out, the administration and Congress found $1 billion of the reduction in budgetary gimmickry, and the other $5 billion mainly in defense, space and foreign aid programs. But while these cuts were being made, there were offsetting rises in the six areas exempted by Congress from the forced reduction — the war in Vietnam, welfare, farm subsidies, veterans benefits, Social Security and Medicare, and interest on the national debt.

The net effect is that actual government expenditures will remain at about $186 billion, and the best that can be said is that without the forced reductions, the figure probably would have risen to about $191 billion.

This focuses attention on one familiar problem — that it takes political courage by all concerned to hold down expenditures. Congress itself voted the increases in veterans' benefits that helped offset other pending cuts.

But it will take more than congressional self-restraint to cope with the so-called "uncontrollable" expenditures, particularly those fixed by legislative formulas, such as farm and welfare benefits. For instance, in the past year, huge harvests drove down farm prices and resulted in increased government subsidies; while in the cities, the number of people going on welfare and medicaid rolls went up sharply.

While these programs exist, they will be subject to such circumstances. Interest on the national debt will always be influenced by the size of the federal deficit, by other demands on the money market, and by various factors not controlled by the government.

These "uncontrollables" make a rational and planned fiscal policy difficult to carry out. The experience of 1968 shows that they can thwart even such tough measures as those insisted upon by Congress last summer.

On the other hand, the mandatory reduction in expenditures proved to be not nearly the disaster that the administration had feared, and the $5 billion trimmed from what expenditures might have been is not to be discounted, in light of the continuing refusal of the economy to slow down.

Suppose, however, that Congress had enacted the tax surcharge soon after Johnson first asked for it in August of 1967, rather than waiting until the summer of 1968, when it imposed the mandatory spending cut in addition. It is entirely possible that if taxes had been raised, say, a year ago, the slow-down effect on the economy would have been greater than that achieved by the tardy surcharge and the largely ineffective expenditures ceiling.

If that is so, it may be that the real economic problem is in the established executive-legislative relationship — in which the president proposes, and Congress disposes, usually in its own good time. In tax and budgetary matters, at least, something faster, surer, and freer of political pressures may well be necessary in years to come.

Show Judging

Seward, Neb.

I wish to commend Glenn Kreuscher on his timely article Monday, Oct. 14, in regard to the confusion surrounding the judging of our market steer shows. Beef production has been and always will be one of Nebraska's major industries. It is very disturbing to see some of the practices being used by our 4-H producers to please the show ring judges. Running their steers with horses, starvation diets to "gut them out" are unacceptable methods of producing high quality beef, yet steers handled this way are hitting the extreme top of our shows. There is no doubt that beef producers must produce an animal yielding a carcass of high quality red meat with a minimum of waste tallow. However, this type of animal is not quite "pretty" enough to please the show ring judge. He is talking about the new type, but selecting the same old steers fed, exercised and groomed differently.

The judges of our shows seem to be the most confused people of all. One would expect a competent judge to have his idea of the most desirable finish and expect his top animals to be uniformly close to this ideal. From the eight steers of the championship line-up at the State Fair, carcasses federally graded ranged from questionable "good" to "high primes" (feeder flesh to overdone and wasteful). In the Ak-Sar-Ben carcass contest, a contest limited only to the purple ribbon elite chosen by the judge, 10 of the eligible 41 animals (chosen out of 1,200) were disqualified for "failing to meet standards of the contest." How long would he last as a packer buyer with a 25 per cent disqualification rate? Again in this group, we find runners grading good and high primes, again overdone and wasteful. The whole beef industry is based on providing a uniform quality product for our consumers. My personal opinion is that the judges were incompetent, but members of our College Extension Service publicly complimented them on their performance.

Breeders, feeders and Extension Service should work together in the right direction for the good of our youth and our industry.

A BEEF PRODUCER

Poor Odds

Lincoln, Neb.

This is in reference to an accident witnessed on the P Street railroad crossing on Saturday, October 19.

Did you ever see anyone pulled out of a car after it has been hit by a train? If you do, you will see what happens when a train hits a car and kills all occupants.

My father was killed in a car-train accident and when my mother saw three cars race around the gates on P Street, she almost went into shock.

Please don't try to beat any train. It could happen to you. Don't be one of those who tried to be a hero and didn't succeed.

I didn't want to write this letter but I thought it might stop someone from trying to be a hero. Stop and think — you cannot beat a train when it's going faster than you are, so don't try. A few minutes of waiting time may save a life.

It certainly is not a pleasant sight to see people in mangled, twisted steel, just because someone couldn't wait. It is not worth it to take chances and endanger your life and others.

Supt. Prasch Urges Change In Use Of Student Teachers

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln has had "too much emphasis" on the safeguards for its students in relation to practice teachers and has "overlooked many opportunities" for using the teachers in training, Supt. John Prasch told the Board of Education Tuesday night.

Problems of "discontinuity" in teacher preparation may be solved by creating and utilizing closer relationships between teacher preparation institutions and school districts, he declared in a discussion on the district's responsibility in teacher education.

Prasch cited numerous advantages to both the universities and school districts sharing responsibilities in teacher training. He indicated to board members that Lincoln needs to be cooperative with training institutions in order to m"ake an impact" on the programs where most of the district's teachers are initially prepared.

The superintendent discussed the status of student teaching in the Lincoln schools and proposed some improvements for the program but did not submit any specific recommendations for board action.

"Discontinuity" problems result from a teacher training institution having the sole responsibility for preparation up to the point of certification and having little influence on the in-service training of teachers in a school district's employment, he explained.

The district "should assume" the cost of supervising student teachers "jointly" with the training institutions, according to Prasch.

However, he added, it should also be assumed that the cost would not be high and there would be as many assets as costs in the end. Salaries now paid to paraprofessionals (nondegree teacher aides) could be paid instead to teacher interns, he noted.

Prasch also pointed out:

—each new building in the district ought to be the center for training new teachers.

—students should receive limited clinical experience in schools prior to the actual student teaching.

—district teachers supervising practice teachers are less apt to become obsolete in their own service.

—joint use of staff between teacher preparation institutions and school districts would better articulate preservice and in-service programs and help keep outstanding teachers in the classroom at least part-time.

Negro Study Readied

In other business Tuesday night Associate Supt. Dr. R. L. Fredstrom reported that a literature unit on the study of Negro history and culture had been developed for upper elementary grades. Some 15-20 teachers of fith and sixth grades are expected to be using the unit by the end of the year.

A textbook entitled "Eyewitness: The Negro in American History" will be made available this semester for the use of junior and senior high social studies teachers as supplementary material. A unit on the Negro in American history will be developed to be incorporated into social studies classes, he added.

Fredstrom also told board members that parents of nearly one-third of all junior and senior high students in the district had received a mid-quarter report from at least one teacher indicating failing, near failing of work below ability. The report was started due to the change in grade card reporting from six to nine week intervals.

United Appeal Drive Reaches 42% Of Goal

At the halfway mark in Lincoln's United Appeal a total of $412,550 or 42% of the goal has been reported. This means the remaining 58% must be collected in the next 18 days.

The Special Gifts Division is now at $126,918 or 69% of its $184,600 goal according to Walt Stephenson, Division Chairman.

The Unit Firms Division has now reached 32% of its goal with $35,480 reported Tuesday to bring the total to date to $170,696. Individual Unit Firms who have reached or surpassed their Corporate and Employee goals at this time are: Ben Simons, $5,577; Victor Business Forms, $6,380; Gateway Bank, $1,201; City National Bank, $826; Union Insurance, $2,347 and National Bank of Commerce, $23,942.

The Business and Government Division is now at 48% of its $225,600 goal. The $9,117 reported Tuesday brings the total in this Division to $108,775.

The Women's Division, with a goal of $15,000, reports that 41% of its goal is in. Mrs. Max Schuster reported $1,687 Tuesday for a total of $6,160 thus far.

The next report luncheon will be held Friday October 25th.

Leathernecks Kill 54 Reds, Take No Casualties

Saigon (AP) — A burst of fighting — much of it involving big artillery guns — hit South Vietnam's northern provinces Tuesday and U.S. Marines in one engagement reported killing 54 black pajama-clad enemy without suffering a single casualty.

Over North Vietnam, the air war continued as usual despite persistent reports of movement towards a bombing halt. Informants said U.S. strike planes were carrying out missions over the southern panhandle Wednesday and planned more on Thursday.

Artillery accounted for the big Marine kill, which came after North Vietnam began shelling the U.S. 3rd Marine Division headquarters and a nearby village for the first time in two months.

The enemy soldiers were picked off about 22 miles southwest of Da Nang where a Leatherneck reconnaissance team spotted about 114 men in black pajamas and shorts moving northeast with rifles, machine guns, packs and rocket rounds.

The North Vietnamese earlier had zeroed on Dong Ha, eight miles below the demilitarized zone, with about 20 rounds of 130mm artillery. It was the third shelling of a U.S. headquarters in three days.

Field reports said four Vietnamese civilians, two Vietnamese soldiers and three American servicemen were killed and 28 persons wounded. Fifteen Americans and six Vietnamese troops were injured.

On a sweep along the southern traces of the DMZ, one U.S. Marine was killed and three were wounded in an enemy artillery shelling.

The attack on Dong Ha, eight miles below the eastern flank of the zone dividing the Vietnams, killed three Marines and three South Vietnamese civilians, including a blind girl being treated at a clinic. One of the 100-pound shells slammed into the clinic.

Consumer Protection Vowed

Stamford, Conn. (UPI) — Democratic vice presidential candidate Edmund S. Muskie Tuesday pledged tough new laws to protect consumers from car insurance, credit and homeowner frauds.

Muskie, during a day of campaigning in the state, told about 1,000 persons at the Place Theater in Stamford that new legislation to protect the consumer from fraud and indifference was the "unfinished business" of the Democratic Party.

"New measures," Muskie said, "are needed to control car insurance policies that don't pay, guarantees and warantees that don't work, credit bureaus that decide you're a risk and home improvement fads that don't work."

Candidate Stresses War, Poverty, Discrimination

in Vietnam," he pointed out. "Nearly 30 from Lincoln have died. That is a local issue and a personal issue that affects each of us.

Local Issues

"And there are poverty and racism in this state and in this city. Those are local issues too."

They are the vital issues, Hamilton told Northeast students, the issues which must be resolved quickly if the nation is to ease the grave divisions which threaten it today.

The war, he believes, stands squarely in the way. It is not only illegal, immoral and irrational, he contends, but "it is against America's own best interests."

It robs the nation of its economic and human resources and permits "the root causes" of growing internal division to fester unresolved, Hamilton said.

For its own citizens who are locked in poverty or denied by discrimination, "America has made great promises and done very little to deliver," he said.

What should be done?

Billions of Dollars

"We must confront those problems now in a massive way," Hamilton declared. "We must spend billions, if necessary. We must try new programs—and if they fail, we must try another one.

"The alternative," he suggested, "is absolutely frightening."

In order to begin, "America must cease its involvement in the Vietnam war as soon as practicably possible," Hamilton insisted.

And if elected, he promises, "I would speak on those issues in Congress — as well as on whether Lincoln needs a new Post Office."

The Hamilton campaign is miniscule by comparison to the Callan and Denney drives. Hamilton expects to spend less than $1,000. He opened his campaign with a $14.10 bank account.

Personal Contact

The emphasis will be on personal contact. Hamilton hopes to get into all 27 counties in the district before Nov. 5, and he will personally go door-to-door in large sections of Lincoln.

Fifty thousand flyers will be printed and distributed by volunteer campaign workers. Four hundred persons have offered to help.

Both Democrtaic and Republican strategists expect Hamilton's candidacy to damage Callan's chances in the marginal district, figuring that Hamilton's votes—liberal and dovsh—will come out of Callan's potential pot.

Only nine persons have registered as New Party members, and published polls indicate that Hamilton will get less than 5% of the total vote. But the margin in the Denney-Callan clash of 1966 was only 2.3%.

"I think we'll get votes from Republicans and Democrats," Hamilton says. "I'm not in this to hurt anybody. If they get hurt, it's not by me, but by the issues.

Minimum Goal

"My minimum purpose is to get both of them talking about the real issues. And I think, and hope, that has already happened."

It may have. Vietnam emerged as a clear issue only after Hamilton entered the race.

As a Peace Corps volunteer three years ago, Hamilton had written from Ethiopia:

"We must yet heed an eloquent cry — the cry of human beings in need, both at home and around the world. In fact, we must face the greatest challenges of all — racism, poverty and war.

"Read, think, vote. Actively support a political candidate or, better yet, run for an office yourself. In short, become involved."

Bruce Hamilton took his own advice.

American Business Said Challenged By An Urgent 'Crisis Of Legitimacy'

By JOAN McCULLOUGH
Star Staff Writer

American business faces a "crisis of legitimacy" more urgent and threatening than government intervention, Dr. Andrew Hacker, a political theorist and professor at Cornell University, told University of Nebraska business students and faculty Tuesday.

Dr. Hacker, spoke on "The Future Direction of the American Business System." He is a guest lecturer for two days at the College of Business Administration.

"I do not forsee any trend toward nationalization or socialization of business in the United States," Dr. Hacker said.

Subtle Attack

A subtle attack on the values of capitalization by Americans is resulting in withdrawal of approval of business methods, he said.

Intelligent Americans are involved in this change of mood as the country moves toward a post-industrialist society, Dr. Hacker said.

"Machines are in basements and executives are working with people," he said. "Very few of them see the raw materials they superintend."

More Americans than ever before are engaged in non-business occupations, Dr. Hacker said, and this trend is creating service jobs rather than production jobs.

More Attractive

Non-profit and service jobs often are more attractive to the middle class American, he said.

Another problem for the businessman of tomorrow is found in the bottom class," the superfluous people," Dr. Hacker said.

"The American economy is not growing fast enough and it seems that the business sector of tomorrow will be too small rather than too large," he said.

Lack of employment leads to social unrest and disruptive behavior, he said.

Two Countries

America is two countries within one, the successful society and the unsuccessful, he said. Affluency has raised the aspirations of the underprivileged, so there is no such thing as "cheap labor."

Businessmen remain oblivious to the problem, and shift the responsibility to the government, he said, but people have become "privatists" and begrudge giving any money to the tax collector.

"The will is not there," he said, "the loss of will came sooner than anyone expected."

Even the liberal is a privatist, Dr. Hacker said, as he gives vocal support to the underprivileged, but saves money for his wine cellar and a trip to Europe.

County Sets Okay Of IDA Bonds Oct. 29

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday set Oct 29 for approval of a contract with Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. for issuance of $5 million worth of Industrial Development Act bonds for the company's Lincoln Plant addition.

On June 1, 1967, the county issued the first $5 million worth of IDA bonds to finance construction of the soybean meal processing facility, while the second $5 million will be used to finance a soybean oil refinery plant.

In other action, the board authorized Chief Deputy County Engineer Walter Hoppe to apply for about $38,000 in federal funds to pay for 1967 flood damage.

According to Hoppe, federal assistance is available to help offset county expenses incurred during the summer of 1967 to repair roads and bridges damaged by flooding.

Candidates Offer Differing Views On Law Enforcement

Two First District congressional candidates offerd differing views on the federal government's role in keeping law and order at a Tuesday breakfast meeting.

Democrat Clair Callan of Odell said the federal government should aid local law enforcement. New party nominee Bruce Hamilton of Lincoln said it should "attack the root causes of disorder by becoming interested in the plight of the poor."

Incumbent Republican Robert Denney of Fairbury was out of town on his campaign caravan but was represented by legislative assistant David Quist.

Quist said Denney believes the federal government should enforce federal law, give assistance to states and provide leadership.

Hamilton added "if we can sincerely show that we are concerned about the plight of the poor in this country, you will have less counter-reaction and the country will have more law and order."

Callan said he never would want a federal police force that "would be strong enough to come into Lincoln, Neb., and move into our areas."

Mrs. Orr Glad Anti-Tax Question Placed On Ballot

Republican State Chairman Lorraine Orr said Tuesday she is glad the anti-income tax constitutional amendment will be on the general election ballot.

Mrs. Orr said she believes Republicans "would like to vote on the issue so that (the income tax) can be approved and settled once and for all."

The party endorsed the sales-income tax system at its state convention last September, she noted.

Troubles Building For N.Y.

New York (AP) — Mediation efforts collapsed in the citywide teachers' strike Tuesday, as more than one million public school pupils idled away an 18th day without education. Police patrolmen continued a work slowdown, and firemen threatened to add to New York's labor crisis with one of their own.

Theodore Kheel, heading a special three-man mediation panel in the strike by 55,000 members of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, met with Mayor John V. Lindsay, and afterwards told newsmen: "We don't plan to call any further meetings. There was no specific progress."

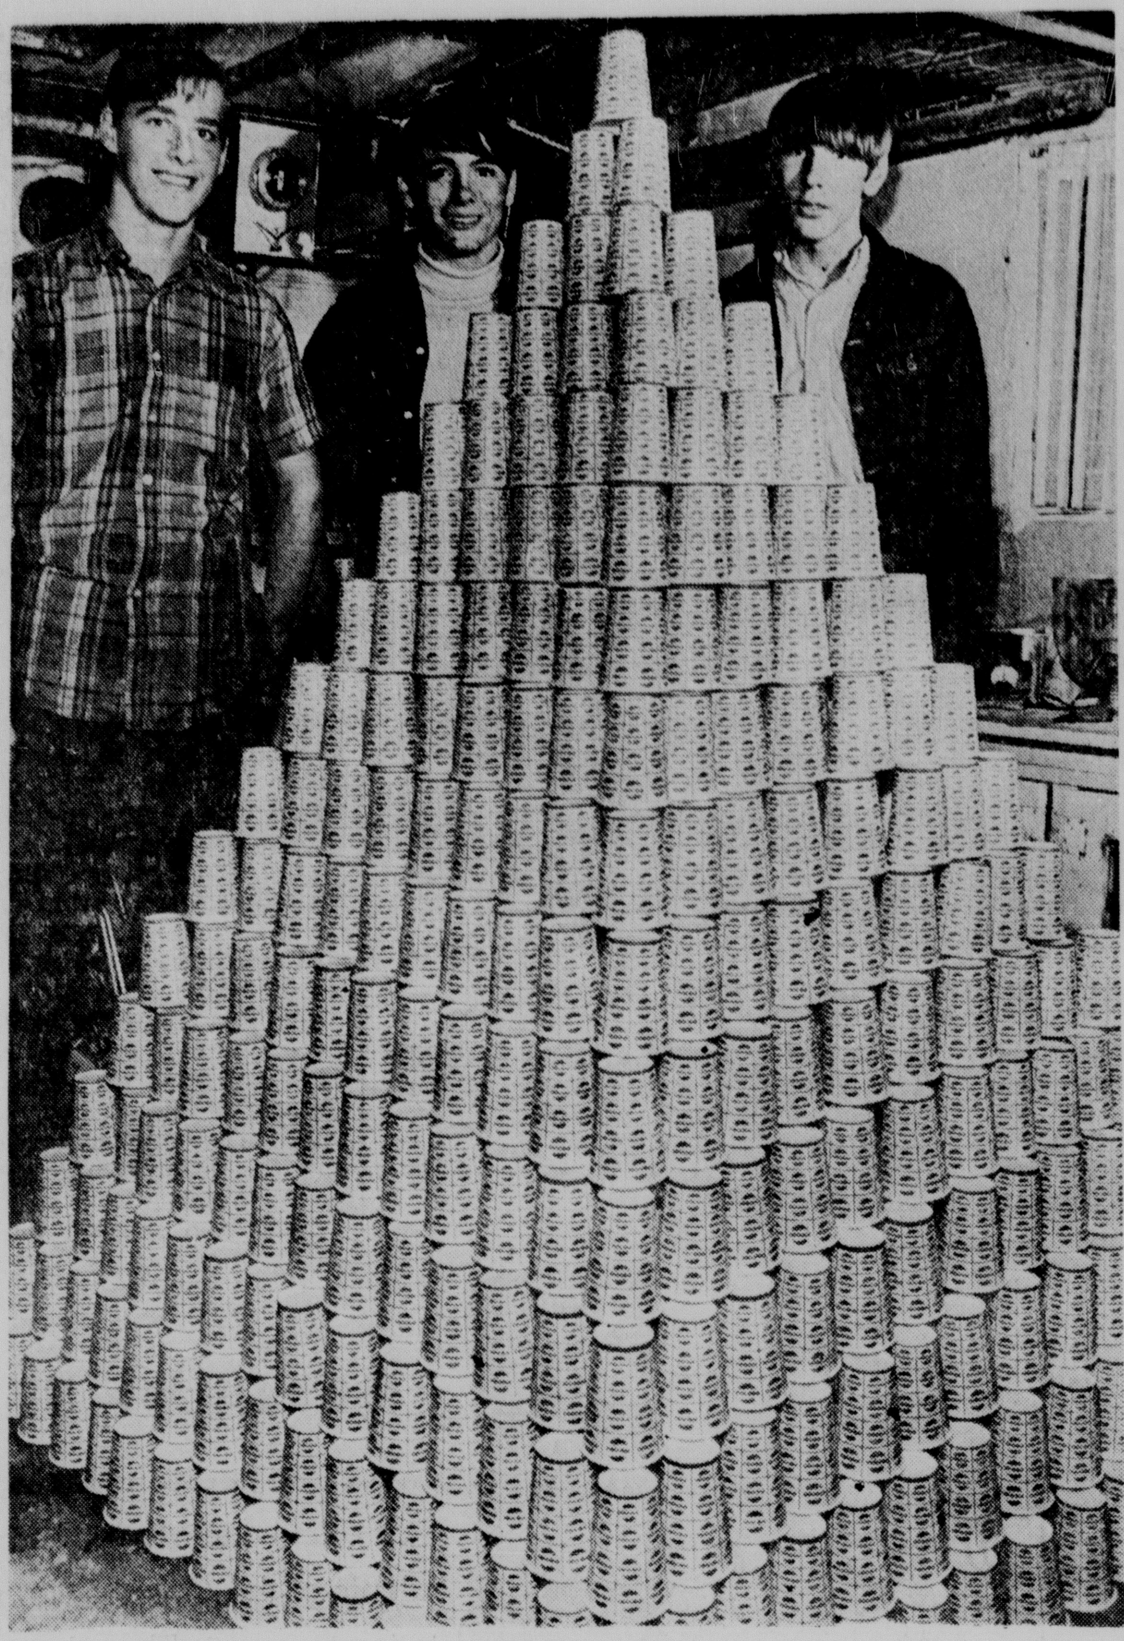
The UFT has struck three times during the fall school term, demanding reinstatement of 80 white teachers ousted last spring from the Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville experimental school district in Brooklyn.

The second day of a slowdown by the 22,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association led to on of the midtown Manhattan tow-away program, so that officers could be reassigned to more vital duties.

For months illegally parked cars have been towed away at the rate of 300 to 400 a day in an effort to improve traffic conditions. Only 68 cars were towed away Monday.

The city offered its police and firemen an increase in their annual wage over two years from $9,383 to $10,759. The PBA turned it down, claiming the hazards of regular police duty entitled its patrolmen to higher salaries than those of firemen and special policemen with the housing, corrections and transit departments.

This, in turn, led the Uniformed Firefighters Association, with 10,500 members, to reject their contract, and schedule a work slowdown of their own for Wednesday unless their salaries are maintained on a par with the patrolmen.



HOW MANY PAPER CUPS IN A PYRAMID?

How many paper cups does it take to build a pyramid that will almost reach the basement ceiling of the Irvin Yost residence at 1318 Claremont? Well, it takes quite a few and it also takes a lot of patience to stack them, according to Jim Schwartztrauber, Ed Loos and John Yost, from left. The boys collected the used cups at a recent convention held here. They intend to leave the pyramid intact for about a week . . . if it will stand up that long. In case you haven't yet been able to figure out how many cups there are, the boys say they used 1,371. (Star Photo.)

2 Gunmen Use Mace In Bank Job

Nashville, Tenn. (AP) — Two gunmen disabled some bank employes and customers with the antiriot gas Mace Tuesday and stole neary $170,000 — the biggest bank holdup in memory here.

Lonnie E. Wilson, manager of a branch of First American National Bank, said the branch was robbed of $169,950, all the money in the teller cages and the bank vault.

The armed robbers used the chemical Mace, a relatively new gas widely used by policemen in quelling riots.

"They made us lie on the floor before they squirted the gas," Wilson said. "We really didn't get big doses but it made us cry."

Officers said the men forced a bank official to lock the doors and then to unlock them, to allow customers to enter.

"After all of the customers were inside," a policeman said, "the tellers were made to turn over their money and finally all of the customers and employes were forced to lay down in the conference room."

One bandit then casually sprayed the victims with a cannister of the gas.

From Local Level Up

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Gov. Harold E. Hughes said "solutions to our domestic problems in America must be worked out from the community level up, not from the top down."

Judge Refuses To Suppress Sirhan Evidence

Los Angeles (AP) — A judge denied Tuesday a motion to suppress evidence the defense said was seized illegally from the home of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Superior Judge Hervert V. Walker held that police had "reasonable authority" to enter the home without a search warrant, because one of Sirhan's brothers gave his consent.

Sirhan, 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant, faces trial Dec. 9 on a charge he murdered Kennedy. The senator was shot June 5 after winning the California presidential primary election and died a day later. Sirhan was arrested at the scene.

Evidence Important

The evidence — papers reported to be in Sirhan's handwriting and other items — has been deemed important to the prosecution's case.

The judge noted that he was not ruling on the admissibility of the evidence, but only on whether or not it should be suppressed.

The ruling followed testimony from one of Sirhan's brothers that he told police they could search, and from Sirhan's mother that she gave no authorization.

Defense attorney Russell E. Parsons argued: "There was no reasonable cause for visiting the house. He (the brother) had no right to consent to a search of this boy's room. They would have had great difficulty obtaining a search warrant from any magistrate."

Bus Service Is Ordered For Holiday Shoppers

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Railway Commission Tuesday modified the bus service hours of the Lincoln City Lines Inc. to include evening shopping hours on both Mondays and Thursdays and also weekdays during the Christmas shopping season.

Monday and Thursday services to 9:30 p.m. will begin Oct. 28 under the commissioner order. Thursday evening service is presently in effect to 9:15 p.m.

Evening bus service until 9:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays for the convenience of holiday shoppers will extend from Nov. 21 through Dec. 23.

John R. Doyle, attorney for Lincoln City Lines, said the company had agreed to the extended hours in negotiations with the City of Lincoln, but had urged that downtown Lincoln merchants, who remain open Monday nights, should subsidize the additional service "on a break-even cost basis."

Not all downtown businesses are open Monday evenings, he said, and the bus company should not stand the extra operating costs for those that do.

Several months ago, the commission granted the transit company permission to cut service back from 11:15 p.m. to 7:15 p.m. on all weeknights except Thursday.

Tuesday's action didn't affect an order allowing reduced service on Sundays and holidays.

A 90-day continuance on the service dispute between the City of Lincoln and the bus lines will bring the subject up again next Jan. 22.

The city and bus line are conducting negotiations on bus services. The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce has filed an intervenor's motion seeking an audit of the company's operations.

A beginning through intermediate level swimming class for girls, sponsored by the Red Cross, will be offered from 8 to 9 p.m. Thursdays at Southeast High School. The class is open to girls in the third grade or older.

Tax Backers Say Issue Is Tax System, Not Public Spending

The Nebraska Tax Facts Committee asserted Tuesday that the issue at stake in the Nov. 5 vote on the income tax "is not public spending but a fair and equitable tax system."

Don H. Shriner of Lincoln, the organization's steering committee chairman, said Nebraska voters won't be "suckers" to what he called loose propaganda statements of the anti-income tax forces.

The Tax Facts Committee supports Nebraska's combined sales-income tax system and is pledged to defeat Constitutional Amendment 300, which would prohibit a state income tax.

Prepared Statement

Shriner issued a prepared statement in answer to earlier statements by Loren Morris of North Platte, chairman of the Nebraska Taxpayers Research and Informationa Service on the State Income Tax.

The Morris group led the initiative petition effort and court litigation resulting in the anti-income tax amendment being on the November ballot.

Shriner's answers to various charges made in the statement by Morris are as follows:

Morris Statement: "On Nov. 5 we know the voters will reject irresponsible spending and those who advocate such spending . . ."

Shriner: "The issue is not public spending, but a fair and equitable tax system and those of the Nebraska Tax Facts Committee are not advocating irresponsible spending as implied."

Morris: ". . . the Supreme Court decision is proof the petition drive is right and the governor and others were in error and guilty of using improper and questionable tactics . . ."

Shriner: "The Supreme Court decision only proves there were enough signatures — not necessarily that the drive was right. Again, who are the 'others' and specifically what improper and questionable tactics."

Morris: "The makeup of these groups supporting the income tax should give people a clue. Some of them are (The) Nebraska Education Association, League of Nebraska Municipalities, State School Administrators Association and other tax spenders . . ."

Shriner. "'Aren't our teachers responsible citizens? We trust our children with them. Aren't our city and county officials responsible citizens? We trust our cities and counties to them.

"Further, why didn't they (The anti-income tax group) go on to mention that the Nebraska Tax Facts Committee represents both political parties, labor, all farm organizations, ranchers and feeders, and many other associations and organizations?

"What organizations and associations do they (The anti-income tax group) represent? What is the key makeup of their organization by name and community. Who is financing their efforts?"

Shriner said the anti-income tax forces appear to be focusing their attack on Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, but are forgetting that 38 state senators voted for the combined sales-income tax.

Additionally, he said the Morris group is trying to ignore the budget process.

"Aren't they forgetting," Shriner said, "that our fine Budget Committee and Legislature has shown great wisdom and prudence with respect to state government spending?"

Cass, Dundy County School District Changes Approved

The State School District Reorganization Committee Tuesday approved plans for making large changes in Cass and Dundy County school districts.

The Cass County plan calls for consolidating school districts in Weeping Water, Louisville, Elmwood and Murdock into a kindergarten through 12th grade district for about 1,200 students.

A new junior-senior high school would be built at a central location with K-6 grades in schools in each of the towns.

The Dundy County plan would dissolve 13 rural districts. Most would go to Benkelman with a smaller portion going to the Imperial elementary and Chase County High School districts.

Other plans presented and approved, by county:

Boyd: Adjust boundary between the Lynch and Spencer districts.

Platte: Transfer portion of Class I No. 44 to the Columbus district.

Gage-Lancaster: Adjust boundary between the Adams and Norris districts.

Perkins: Adjust boundaries between the Venango district and the high school and elementary districts at Imperial.

Jefferson-Gage: Attach Class I District 61 to the Tri-County School district.

Favorable Vote On City College Urged By Mayor

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf Tuesday urged a favorable vote Nov. 5 on establishing a community-junior college in Lincoln.

The mayor said that through his visits to different businesses and industries in the city, he has seen "a great need for skilled employes in so many varied fields of endeavor."

He noted that the Lincoln community should provide vocational education to enable Lincoln youth to take advantage of local opportunities.

"Our new community-junior college would also provide us with excellent facilities for retraining adults," he said.

Schwartzkopf observed that "this is not a political issue by any means, but a community betterment program at its best."

Blaze Damages NU Feed Barn

A fire late Tuesday morning caused "considerable" damage to a University of Nebraska feed barn near 72nd and Adams Sts., fire department officials said.

Firemen said the fire was apparently caused by a faulty kerosene heater in the barn.

The fire caused extensive damage to the building's lower story and some damage to the second floor, firemen said. An office area on the first floor was destroyed, firemen said.

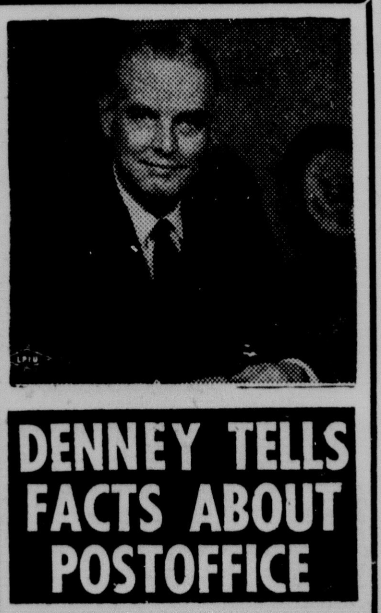
Vandals Throw Paint Remover At Lincoln Home

Vandals caused approximately $100 worth of damage to a Lincoln home this week, police reported Tuesday.

Police said that vandals threw paint remover across the front of the Bessie Chrastil home at 934 So. 2nd. Officers said the paint remover damaged the house itself, the porch and porch furniture.



DENNEY TELLS FACTS ABOUT POSTOFFICE

The facts are obvious! Bob Denney was First District Congressman when funds were released for the post office and construction started.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

These are the days of beer and football. TV and snacks. In 1873, Dr. Andrew Dickerson White, president of Cornell, stated his opinion of the game.

He said: "I will not permit 30 men to travel 400 miles merely to agitate a bag of wind.

In those windy days, sponsors did not pay $70,000 a minute to air the performance of an automobile running over a bumpy railroad track.

☆ ☆ ☆

I bought a new car recently. A foreign bomb. I haven't driven it much.

"I'll need it today," said the household wren. "We're having the Brownie meeting."

She has become a Brownie leader. The phone rings all day with Brownie news.

"I think we should take them on an expedition to pick autumn leaves. No, we won't need your car. I'll take the new station wagon."

She said: "You can take the old car."

☆ ☆ ☆

Cars were new stuff when I was in short pants. When we saw one broken down, we yelled, "Get a horse!"

A popular song of the day was "Get Out and Get Under."

Automobile owners were their own repairmen. It was no unusual sight to see them lying underneath the car trying to figure why it didn't run.

My grandfather's first car was a Cadillac. It sat high off the road. When you climbed in the seat, you looked way down.

It had brass trim and a horn you blew by squeezing a rubber bulb. Whonk!

It had a cone clutch. When the engine engaged the drive shaft, it did it by the end of the shaft being pushed into the cone. The cone was attached to the engine and turned.

☆ ☆ ☆

The idea was the turning cone pressed hard against the end of the drive shaft and everything turned and made the rear wheels turn.

The cone was lined with leather. Sometimes the end of the drive shaft slipped in this leather pocket.

This was especially true on hills. We would be chugging up the hill. The engine was turning but the car began slipping backward.

It was dramatic, let me tell you.

Grandma would scream. Grandpa would rip up the floor board with one hand, steering with the other. On the dash, we kept a box filled with sand.

Grandpa would grab a handful of this sand and fling it into the cone clutch.

☆ ☆ ☆

It was a snapper. The sanded cone would grab with a jerk and off we'd go.

"Like a bat out of —," grandpa began to say.

"Watch your language!" said grandma.

The car was guaranteed to go 60 miles an hour. We did it once. The wind blowing—there was a top but grandpa kept it down. He kept both hands clamped on the wheel as the speedometer needle crept up to 60.

Grandma said later she felt like she'd been dragged through a knothole.

"I think we should get the car washed," said the Brownie leader. "The old car?" I asked. "The new car," she said. "I want to keep it nice."

The old car could use some washing. (Also I wish people would clean out the gum wrappers. And the swimming cap that has been on the floor since summer.)

"I want the new car washed so it will look good for the Brownie meeting," she said. "People notice those things."

☆ ☆ ☆

My grandfather washed the Cadillac himself. There were no car wash places. Anyway, he wouldn't have let anybody else touch it.

He offered to teach grandma how to drive it. She said she wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole.

Those were the days!

JIM BEAM BOURBON—
MAKING NEWS SINCE 1795

CLERMONT, KY.—173 years ago Jacob Beam started making Beam Bourbon here in Kentucky. It is still being made here today. And still by the Beams.

Along with inspired skills, the making of a Bourbon like Beam requires an unusual combination of land, climate and natural materials. And it's all here, in north central Kentucky.

There's the ancient, underlying limestone springs that supply sweet, clear water—a vital ingredient in the making of fine Bourbon.

The rich, fertile, surrounding valleys and plains provide the needed corn, rye and barley.

Washington Clipping

There will be many, many people in Lincoln as well as throughout the state who will remember Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cox both formerly of Lincoln, and both graduates of the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Cox, a member of a prominent law firm in Washington, D.C. was a Rhodes Scholar following his graduation from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa and Innocent Society. Mrs. Cox is the former Ethlyn Ayres — Alpha Phi at Nebraska. Mrs. Cox has two sisters residing in Lincoln, Mrs. Vivian Baker and Mrs. Richard Meyer.

The following story, describing the lovely Cox home in Alexandria, Va., is a clipping from the Washington, D.C. Star, and appeared in the Star's Woman's Section.

"The trouble is, your taste always improves!" says Mrs. Hugh B. Cox of the interest in antique furniture she and her husband share.

The result, however, has been a special joy to several organizations in Alexandria which, every year or so, prevail upon Mrs. Cox to put their house on a tour.

The Alexandria Association is the latest to benefit from the Coxes' good taste in 18th century furniture which tends to concentrate on examples of the work of New England cabinet-makers.

The association's annual forum, opening Thursday with a reception and dinner at the Belle Haven Country Club, will include three study sessions in three Alexandria homes on Friday afternoon.

The Cox home will provide a visual illustration of a lecture on "Fine Points of New England Furniture" by G. Carroll Lindsay, a former Alexandrian who now is director of museum services at the University of the State of New York in Albany.

The Coxes, who originally are from Nebraska, first began collecting antiques when they were living in Washington in the '30s.

By 1948, they decided they needed a house for the furniture. And, after looking in Georgetown, they found it in Alexandria — a 3½-story Georgian brick residence now almost 200 years old.

Completed in 1786, it was built by Col. Michael Swope of Pennsylvania, a Revolutionary officer who came to Alexandria from York, Pa., after the war was over.

The house is authentic to the early period, however, and the lower floor is filled with museum-quality selections from the work of 18th century cabinetmakers, such as Benjamin Frothingham of Charlestown, Mass.

In the library, for instance, a handsome bonnet top secretary, with the original brasses, is attributed to Frothingham, as are a mahogany Chippendale card table and mahogany Chippendale settee, in the drawing room.

Antique connoisseurs always are enchanted by a matching Queen Anne highboy and lowboy, made in Massachusetts, circa 1750, which are illustrated in Lockwood's "Colonial Furniture in America."

Among the many other New England pieces are two Hepplewhite sideboards, circa 1790; an inlaid mahogany serving table, with original inset marble top, probably Hartford, Conn., circa 1790; a Chippendale Serpentine-front chest of drawers, attributed to William Lemmons, Salem, Mass., 1785, and a Chippendale Pembroke table by John Townsend, Newport, R.I.

ABBY: maybe both a bit crazy

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son is 6 feet, 2 inches, and weighs 220 pounds. He's married to a 95-pound, five-foot wildcat who has sent him to the hospital twice since they've been married, and it hasn't been a year yet.

The first time, she laid his head open with a coffee pot and the doc took 22 stitches in his skull.

The next time she hit him with a bridge lamp and broke his nose.

The big dummy refuses to bring charges against her. He won't leave her, and he won't raise a hand against her. He says he "loves" her. Is he crazy or is she?

How can I get him to either defend himself or lock up this maniac. I'm afraid she'll kill him.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: They could both be a little "crazy," but if your son sticks around and takes this kind of punishment hand down, he's crazier than she is.

DEAR ABBY: When two couples go out to dinner together is it considered "cheap" to ask for separate checks?

Nick and I have gone out with another couple and unless separate checks are asked for in advance, we split the check in half, which is very unfair because (1) I don't drink. (2) We never order the most expensive dinner on the menu like the other couple. (3) Our share of the tip shouldn't be divided 50-50 either, because we didn't spend as much.

Nick and I talk to each about this after we get home, but we feel sheepish and never do anything about it. Do you think we should?

"SHEEPISH"

DEAR SHEEPISH: Yes. And if you don't, you are not only sheepish — you're foolish.

Morning Wedding

The wedding of Miss Marilyn Meduna of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meduna, Wahoo, and Lloyd F. Benal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Benal of Wahoo, took place Saturday morning, Oct. 19, at St. Wenceslaus Church in Wahoo. White and green-tinted chrysanthemums appointed the altar for the 11 o'clock ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. Joseph Mroczkowski.

Floor-length frocks of moss green velvet fashioned in the jumper silhouette and complemented by full-sleeved blouses of willow green chiffon were worn by Miss Colleen Hilger and Mrs. Paul Winkler, Lincoln, the honor attendendants, and the bridesmaids, Miss Laurie Chvatal, Malmo, and Miss Barbara Hilger, Lincoln.

Leo C. Benal served his twin brother as best man, and seating the guests were Frank Stava, Robert J. Meduna and Don Shalon, Wahoo; Francis Lavicky, York; and Paul Winkler, Lincoln.

A jewel throatline and long, fitted sleeves accented the bride's slender gown of white peau de soie. Appliques of re-embbroidered Alencon lace patterned the gown and was repeated on the detachable aisle-wide train, and her train-length veil of silk illusion was held by a cap of jeweled satin petals.

Mr. and Mrs. Benal will make their home in Lincoln, at 2035 J. The bride is a graduate of St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing, and Mr. Benal received his degree from the University of Nebraska.

Gracious Hospitality In Suburbia

In a little more than a week The Great Pumpkin that a comic strip has made famous, will rise out of the sky and survey his domain, selecting the most worthy pumpkin patch for his annual visit.

For children this week will be full of preparations for the eve of goblins, ghosts, witches and black cats. And we mustn't forget trick or treating, preferably treating as far as most of the little ones are concerned.

While their children are getting ready for that scarey night next week, the parents in Suburbia are treating guests to their gracious hospitality, going on weekend jaunts and celebrating birthdays — just to mention a few of the many things that are going on.

Since we are talking about entertaining friends, we should mention Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ueberrhein in Maple Village whose house guests the weekend of Oct. 12 and 13, were Mr. and Mrs. James R. Lee of Valentine.

During their stay in Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Lee attended the Nebraska-Kansas game with Mr. and Mrs. Ueberrhein.

But football wasn't the only activity on the social calendar for Maple Village residents. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Campbell and their children, Jerry, Jr. and Hunter, enjoyed the weekend as guests of Mrs. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hagen in Central City.

Some families have their own very special brand of news this month. One of those families, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brodhagen at 221 Cottonwood Dr., have an eight pound one-and-one-half ounce baby girl to keep them busy. Their new daughter, Jennifer Lynn, didn't suffer from lack of attention when she arrived home from the hospital because her sister, Sondra Renee, who is two and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Arnold Buckendahl of Pierce, were waiting to greet her. Young Miss Brodhagen's grandparents include the other half of the maternal set, Mr. Buckendahl, of course, and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Brodhagen on the paternal side.

We sometimes say that good things come in little packages, and that couldn't be more true for Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Wolfe in Sunnyside Acres. Their little package, a four pound 14 ounce boy, whom they have named Kevin Lee, arrived on Sunday, Oct. 13. Sharing the joy of their first child with Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe are Kevin's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zlab.

A third new arrival made her debut into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kurtz in Southbrook Summit on Saturday, Oct. 5. Miss Jennifer Susan Kurtz was welcomed into the family limelight by her sisters and brothers, Merri Anne, 11; Jacqulyn Jean, 10; Barbara Lynn, 9; Diane, 7; David, 6; Michael, 4; Catherine, 3; and Timothy, 1.

We've found that one of the most pleasant ways to spend an evening is in the company of friends doing something everyone enjoys. So it wasn't a surprise to us when we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Heald entertained Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tavis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dermann, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lackey and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McMindes at a card party at their home on Saturay evening, Oct. 19.

Birthday celebrations have been the principal activity of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wink in Eastborough this month. On Sunday, Oct. 13, Mrs. Wink's daughter, Miss Kathleen Hartman, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hartman and their children, Michael, Patty and Mark from Fremont, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wink in honor of Mrs. Wink's birthday anniversary which officially was on Sunday, Oct. 6.

On Thursday, Oct. 10, Mrs. Wink celebrated her birthday again. But his time she and Mr. Wink shared the festivities with Mr. and Mrs. E. Oreling who had been married exactly 39 years on that date.

Bridal Plans And Courtesies

Each week adds its quota of prenuptial courtesies honoring the numerous brides-elect who have chosen autumn dates for their wedding ceremonies.

A bride-to-be who will share honors with her fiance on Friday evening is Miss Katherine Costin whose marriage to John Louis Landen, Jr., will be an event of Saturday, Oct. 26.

Entertaining in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Costin and their son will be Mr. and Mrs. John Louis Landen of Omaha, who will be host and hostess at dinner at the Country Club of Lincoln.

The dinner guests will include the members of the family and bridal party for the wedding, which will take place at an afternoon ceremony to be solemnized at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Members of Miss Costin's family who will be arriving in time for the dinner will be her uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Downie of Ontario, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Costin, Denver; and Mrs. Richard Jensen, Baldwinsville, N.Y.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Costin, the soon-to-be bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Her fiance is a student at John F. Kennedy College in Wahoo.

Revealing plans this morning for her autumn wedding is Miss Rosemary Hinkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hinkle, who has chosen Saturday, Nov. 2, as the date for her marriage to Daniel J. Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Sharp of Bridgeport.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening, at Vine United Church of Christ.

Mrs. Ted Hinkle will attend her sister-in-law as matron of honor, and the bridesmatron will be Mrs. Don Goos of Gering, sister of Mr. Sharp. The bridesmaid will be Miss Janiece Kaufman, and the bride-elect's niece, Miss Kathy Hinkle, will be the flower girl.

Lighting the chancel candles will be Miss Tina Marie Walters and David Walters.

Serving as best man will be Donald Goos of Gering, and the groomsmen will be Miss Hinkle's brother, Ted Hinkle, and Alan Bowman. Henry Bulin and Donald Schulz will seat the guests.

Both Miss Hinkle and Mr. Sharp are former students at the University of Nebraska.

Complexion Beautifier

The complexion takes on a peaches-and-cream look through the use of a tropical moist oil with remarkable beautifying properties. It is isotonic in action, assisting the plasma colloids (the skin's water carriers) to retain a balanced moisture level at the skin's surface, so that the complexion acquires a glorious bloom. Smoothed over the face and neck before make-up is applied, this moist oil of Olay helps the skin to enjoy clear loveliness. Ask your druggist for a supply for your personal needs.

The bidding:

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

Declarer's play if often influenced to some extent by the fact that one or both opponents have participated in the bidding. Here is a case where declarer abandoned the normal aprpoach to the play — because East had made a takeout double — and came out with a fine result after a minor slip by the defense.

West led the jack of clubs on which East played the queen and declarer the three. When East shifted to the A-K and a low heart, South ruffed high, West discarding a diamond.

Declarer now cashed the ace of clubs, ruffed a club high, and drew three of trumps to produce this position:

Ordinarily, South would have tried a diamond finesse at this point, but after considering East's double of two sades and West's discard of a diamond, he decided against it.

Instead he cashed the queen of spades, discarding the eight of diamonds from dummy after West had discarded a club.

East was now up against it for a discard. He could not spare the queen of hearts, so he was forced to part with a diamond. Declarer thereupon cashed the A-K-5 of diamonds and thus made the contract.

West was chiefly responsible for handing South the contract. His innocent discard of a diamond instead of a club at trick four cost him the hand. Had he held the 6-4-3 of diamonds in the diagramed position, East's nine of diamonds discard would not have helped declarer at all. West's six would have scored the setting trick!

State Appears Headed For Traffic Toll Mark

Nebraska is on a collision course with a new traffic fatality record of 468 for 1968, the Traffic Accident Records Bureau reported Tuesday.

With 336 deaths as of Sept. 30, a projection based on the past four years reveals that we are headed for a record year," a bureau pamphlet said. The record was set in 1964 when 450 deaths occurred.

The economic loss due to accidents is $225,550 daily, the bureau further reported.

The figure is based on immediate cost and present value of all future earnings which are lost due to death and total, partial or temporary disability, property damage losses, medical expenses and overhead cost of insurance.

For 1967, the total economic loss was $82 million which, converted into $1 bills, would provide a turn on Nebraska's Memorial Stadium 180 bills thick.

Drinking while driving is now the most prevalent contributing circumstance to fatal accidents, the bureau reported. Over the first six months 45 of the 167 fatal accidents (27%) involved drinking.

Speeding had formerly been the highest contributing circumstance.

Carpenter Plans Television Series To Air Amendments

State Sen. Terry Carpenter reported Tuesday that he will personally pay for nine half-hour and one full hour television appearances featuring himself talking about the proposed constitutional amendments.

"I'm going to pay for it but I'll take any contributions," he said. The shows will be aired on Scottsbluff, Grand Island and Omaha stations during so-called prime time after 6:30 p.m.

"I'm going to talk about all the constitutional amendments and give the people the intent of the Legislature and the effect if they are passed," Carpenter said.

The Scottsbluff lawmaker said he will make recommendations on what the people should do on the income tax issue, which the State Supreme Court directed onto the ballot Monday.

The alternate source of revenue which the Legislature might impose if the income tax is displaced "is difficult to project," Carpenter said.

He has been a staunch supporter of the sales-income tax package implemented in the last legislative session. He offered to go on a "road show" tour of Nebraska towns arguing the points for eliminating the income tax with Gov. Norbert Tiemann voicing the view for retention.

"I will present both sides (of the issues on TV)," Carpenter said. "I think a lot of people are misinformed about some of the questions."

He said he thinks voters will be "better informed" after the telecasts.

Royal Dog Nips Royal Postman

London (AP) — One of Queen Elizabeth's nippy little Corgis bit a postman delivering a letter to Balmoral Castle, a member of Parliament said Tuesday.

"This is a laughing matter here but it isn't a laughing matter for the postman," Peter Doig of Dundee told a chuckling House of Commons.

Doig asked Parliament to order the queen to hang signs saying "Beware of the Dog" outside her royal residences.

Whistlestopping Nixon Assails HHH

Aboard Nixon Train, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon rolled across Ohio Tuesday on a 247-mile train tour, pronouncing it time to "really get down to the nitty gritty" of the White House campaign, and assailing Hubert H. Humphrey at every stop.

The Republican presidential nominee led the most energetic day's tour of his presidential race, a trail of nine rallies from Cincinnati to Toledo, with rear platform speeches in towns like London and Deshler.

At Marion, where rain let up as Nixon arrived, a crowd of several thousand turned out in a shopping center to hear him assail Humphrey as an advocate of government spending.

HHH 'Pickpocket'

"The issue is clear, vote Humphrey for more taxes, vote Nixon to have more to spend yourself," he said.

"It's Nixon with money in your pocket or Humphrey with his hand in your pocket."

A security helicopter covered the Nixon route ahead of the train, circled overhead during the rallies. In Springfield and London, policemen with rifles stood watch on rooftops as Nixon spoke.

Nixon Flinches

After Nixon's Springfield speech, as he stood waving to the crowd, someone threw a small object at him. Nixon flinched, the missile hit the train and bounced away.

In Lima, a crowd of more than 7,000 people turned out to hear Nixon on a downtown square.

As Nixon was about to leave the microphone, somebody in the audience threw an egg toward the platform. It did not come close to the presidential nominee, but spattered on the suit of State Auditor Roger Cloud.

"It is time for us to really get down to the nitty gritty and talk about what this campaign is really about," Nixon said. "This is the clearest choice of this century."

Then, by word and mimeographed statement, he tied into Humphrey, accusing him of ignoring soaring crime, espousing programs that would put the taxpayer in hock, saying his Democratic rival "has spent four years in obedience school" as No. 2 man to President Johnson.

LBJ: Gun Bill Insufficient

Washington (AP) — President Johnson signed into law Tuesday the most comprehensive gun control legislation passed by Congress in 30 years but said it fell short of what is needed for effective crime control.

"We have been through a great deal of anguish these last few months and these last few years — too much anguish to forget so quickly," Johnson said at a White House ceremony.

"Now we must complete the task this long-needed legislation begins. We have come a long way. We have made much progress — but not nearly enough."

The controversy over gun control legislation goes back many years. Interest in the measure grew with the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The new law bans the mail order sale of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Johnson said it is too weak to control crime effectively because it lacks two features he asked Congress to include — registration of weapons and licensing of owners.

Children Homeless

Oslo (AP) — One hundred seventy-five homeless Vietnamese children have arrived from Saigon to be adopted by Norwegian parents.

President Of LCLU Resigns

Robert Muggy Tuesday resigned as president of the Lincoln Central Labor Union effective Nov. 14.

Muggy has served as president of the 11,000-member local parent body of the AFL-CIO for the past three years.

"Organized labor has reached the point in Lincoln where the presidency of the LCLU has become more than a spare-time job," Muggy said.

"It is impossible to pay adequate attention to my family, my job and the responsibilities of the office in this situation.

"Organized labor in Lincoln would help itself and the city if it would recognize the fact that it is one of Lincoln's largest organizations.

"The LCLU can give full service to its membership and be a positive force in the community only when it has more than a voluntary part-time staff.

"I have been happy to serve as LCLU president during a period of growth and recognition for organized labor in Lincoln. I hope the appropriate changes within the LCLU will be made to assure continued progress in the future."

Economist Heller To Give Speech At NU Thursday

Dr. Walter W. Heller, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisors during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, will speak at 3:30 Thursday in the University of Nebraskka's Union ballroom in Lincoln.

"Economic Policies: Post Election and Post Vietnam," will be the topic of his speech.

He has formerly taught economics at the University of Wisconsin and at the University of Minnesota, where he became chairman of the economics department in 1957.

He remained at this post until 1961 when he was appointed to the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Dr. Heller is the author of several publications on taxes and economics and has contributed numerous articles to periodicals and professional journals.

National Guard Group Slates Annual Confab

The 13th Annual Nebraska National Guard Association Conference will be held at the Cornhusker Hotel here Friday and Saturday.

Deputy chief of the National Guard Bureau, Maj. Gen. Francis S. Greenlief, and the immediate past national commander of the American Legion, William Galbraith of Beemer, will headline the meeting, Association President Lt. Col. Roger D. Charles reported.

Gen. Greenlief is a native of Hastings who has been with the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C., for the last eight years.

Larson Promises Information Flow

Lincoln legislative candidate Richard Larson Tuesday promised to "keep the citizens of the 27th District informed" if he is elected to the Unicameral.

Larson mentioned the possibility of a periodic newsletter to his constituents as one method of informing them about state government activities.

Recipients could offer suggestions, opinions and comments by returning to him a "Citizen's Viewpoint" section within the newsletter, Larson said.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

SPORT SIGNALS

☆ ☆ ☆

By Hal Brown

Sports Editor, The Star

Thanks To Jack, Ed

Rifling through sports notes after offering thanks to the Daily Nebraskan's Jack Todd and Ed Icenogle for the recognition handed our way last week and also congratulations to the two for their improved news judgment that got the Husker footballers into the paper this week.

But, really Jack, weren't you stretching things a mite when you signed "An Athlete" to your letter?

Oklahoma State coach Phil Cutchin, who will have a number of sophomores in his lineup against Nebraska Saturday, claims, "It's not injuries I worry about—it's diaper rash."

Only Nine Unbeaten

Only nine major college football teams remain unbeaten and untied at the halfway point in the season. They are Ohio 5-0, Kansas 5-0, Arizona 4-0, USC 5-0, Harvard 4-0, Pennsylvania 4-0, Penn State 4-0, Yale, 4-0, and Ohio State 4-0.

A fellow by the pen name of Speedy, who does his writing for The Forum, the State Penitentiary paper, predicted three weeks ago that Nebraska would wind up 5-5 for the season.

When Missouri coach Dan Devine, who is on the UPI coaches poll, was asked last week where he had rated his Tigers, he replied, "I really can't say. We were down to the tenth spot and it was my wife's vote. I had to leave and I don't know who she put in there."

Something To Be Said

Dwight Chapin of the Los Angeles Times, looking at the Northwestern schedule that included Miami, Fla., Southern Cal, Purdue and Notre Dame on successive weekends, wrote, "You have to say one thing for the Northwestern Wildcats. They may be crazy."

Phil Cutchin, figuring the Astrodome has at least one big drawback, opines, "Suppose we had it here (Stillwater, Okla.) and a big dust storm blew in. It would take a mighty big vacuum cleaner to clean that rascal."

Oklahoma States' John Little had been nominated for Big Eight Lineman of the Week honors seven times in his 13 varsity games and finally won the honor last week, then was named national Lineman of the Week, causing O-State publicist Pat Quinn to quip, "He's a lot like Richard Nixon. If you nominate him enough, he's bound to win sometime."

Most Prophetic Statement

The most prophetic statement of the football season may prove to be one made by Colorado assistant Augie Tammariello, who claims, "I honestly feel that any team that beats Missouri will have to show a great kicking game. They're just not the type of team you're going to drive 80 to 90 yards on."

When Colorado's Mike Montler dislocated a finger early this year, he didn't receive much sympathy from the Colorado student section. "I came out for that one play and I heard some guy holler, 'Tuition costs $691 a semester,' so I hurried back into the game," he jokes.

Julius Boros, putting the money-making potential of pro golf in true perspective, says, "If it weren't for this game, Lee Trevino would be selling tacos in Texas, I'd still be a bookkeeper in Hartford, Conn., and Nicklaus and Palmer would be piloting prop planes."

Pershing Cagers Experienced, Look For .500 Return

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Pershing College's third basketball season starts Nov. 26 and just the fact that nobody can be lost because there hasn't been a senior class yet gives coach Bob Gates hopes that this year's club can get back over the .500 level.

After starting out with a 17-5 record two years ago, Pershing finished 10-12 last winter but did "arrive," so to speak, with a much tougher schedule after playing 11 games against junior colleges in its initial campaign.

Gates will build the 1968-69 Generals around seven performers who started at one time or another last year — center Jim Tubbs (6-3), forwards Klaus Brotzki (6-3), Jim Hunter (6-3), and Eddie Perkins (6-2), and guards Steve Amidon, (6-0), Brent Estee (6-1) and Mike Graham (6-1).

Last season Hunter averaged 19.5 points a game, Tubbs 16.2, Graham 13.4, Estee 9.9, Brotzki 9.3 and Perkins 8.0. Tubbs was the leading rebounder and Graham paced the club in assists.

"The most important thing is that they've all had another year's experience," Gates says. "It's gonna be hard (to reach .500), but I think we'll be a little better and I'm optimistic though we have a lot of new opponents.

"Our weak points are not enough reserves and a lack of height. Our first group is pretty good but after that we're pretty thin. We need more help at forward and I may move Graham up there and go along with three guards. Kansas State does that sometimes."

New faces on the Generals 27-game schedule this year include Parsons (Iowa), Metropolitan State (Denver), St. Mary's of the Plains (Kan.), Midwestern (Iowa), Lea College (Minn.), Southwest Minnesota, and the University of Missouri, both Rolla and St. Louis branches. Additionally, Pershing goes to the Phillips (Okla.) tournament.

The Nov. 26 opener will be in Beatrice against College of Emporia, which defeated Pershing, 73-67, in the Generals' final game last season, the one that kept them from compiling an even record.

Because of schedule conflicts at the Beatrice City Auditorium, where home games will be played, two home games will be played at Odell and one at De Witt.

Southern Cal Barely Holds No. 1 Position

Compiled From News Wires

Southern California still is No. 1 in the Associated Press' major college football poll, but might be a little gun-shy after the Ohio State Buckeyes hit the bullseye again.

The Trojans clung to a dissipating lead — now down to 16 points — over the runnerup Buckeyes after edging Washington 14-7 last weekend. Ohio State, meanwhile, continued its machine-gun scoring by slugging Northwestern 45-21.

Southern California also held a slim lead in the United Press International poll which listed an identical top ten.

In the AP balloting, Kansas nudged aside idle Penn State for third place after walloping Oklahoma State 49-14. The Jayhawks grabbed five first-place ballots and 660 points. Penn State was named first on one ballot and rolled up 580 points over-all for fourth place.

Notre Dame, with 442 points, climbed from sixth to fifth after burying Illinois 58-8; Tennessee moved from eighth to sixth with 418 after beating Alabama 10-9 and Purdue dropped from fifth to seventh after barely beating winless Wake Forest 28-27. Georgia rose from 10th to eighth after thumping Vanderbilt 32-6.

Miami of Florida topped Virginia Tech 13-8, and moved from 12th to ninth, and Syracuse filled out the Top Ten, moving up a notch although idle.

UPI voters also moved Kansas from fourth to third over Penn State, while Notre Dame and Tennessee slipped pass struggling Purdue.

Missouri headed the second 10, according to UPI, barely edging Texas. The Tigers are 14th in the AP Poll after last Saturday's 16-14 victory over Nebraska which received votes in the balloting, but dropped out of the second ten.

U.S. Guilty Of Payoffs?

. . . MEDALS THREATENED

Mexico City (AP) —Debbie Meyer, feared lost to the U.S. swimming team because of illness, bounced back to lead another 1-2-3 American sweep Tuesday night while the troubled Olympic Games threatened to burst open at the seams again.

The Washington Post meanwhile, reported the United States is considering giving up some of its gold medals because of athletic equipment payoffs.

Miss Meyer, suffering from a sore throat and intestinal trouble, bounced back from her illnesses and won the women's 200-meter freestyle, in the Olympic record time of 2:10.5, leading teammates Jan Henne and Jane Barkman across the finish line for the fifth American medal sweep in swimming competition.

The Post, in a front page story by Sports Editor Shirley Povich, said "certain black power militants on the American track team" were under investigation by the U.S. Committee.

The newspaper did not name them.

The Post quoted one U.S. Olympic source as saying the evidence included endorsed checks cashed by members of the American team.

The source said the scandal could be "the worst thing ever to happen to a U.S. Olympic team," the Post reported.

Roland Matthes of East Germany took the 100-meter backstroke and Mexico's Filipe Munoz captured the 200-meter breaststroke in the other swimming finals Tuesday night.

According to an Associated Press report, six American athletes were at first suspected of accepting cash payments which would be a direct violation of the amateur code. But as the investigation progressed, two were exonerated.

Charles Hickcox, a 21-year-old Indiana University senior from Phoenix Ariz., and Ronnie Mills, a Fort Worth, Tex., high school student, finished 2-3 in the men's 100-meter backstroke behind Matthes, the world record holder.

Matthes was timed in 58.7 seconds, breaking the Olympic record and coming with three-tenth of a second of his world mark.

Hickox in 1:00.2 and Mills in 1:00.5 also shattered the Olympic record.

In the final swimming event of the night, host country Mexico captured its first gold medal of the Games when Munoz won the 200-meter breaststroke in 2:28.7, beating Russia's world record holder, Vladimir Kosinsky, clocked in 2:292 Brian Job, a 16-year-old from Cortland, Ohio, was third in 2:29.9.

The three swimming finals upped the U.S. medal total to 72, including 29 golds.

U.S. Cagers In Finals

Mexico City (AP)—Jo Jo White, 6-foot-3 sharpshooter from Kansas University poured in 14 points in the first half to lead the United States to a 74-63 victory over Brazil Tuesday night that sent the undefeated Americans into today's Olympic basketball final against giant-killer Yugoslavia, which lost to the United States 73-58 in an earlier tournament encounter, but won a dramatic last gasp victory over the favored Soviet Union, 63-62, Tuesday night.

White, who played only six minutes of the final half, finished with 16 points.

In the opening half, in which they piled up a 42-26 lead, the U.S. grabbed the ball from Brazil's clutches nine times on turnovers. The Yanks passed and shot beautifully.

College Cage Coaches Talk At SE Clinic

A basketball clinic, free to all members of the Nebraska High School Coaches Association, will be held at Southeast High School in Lincoln Saturday.

Bob Erickson, Doane College mentor, will be the leadoff speaker at 9 a.m. when he discusses the shuffle offense.

Also on the morning program will be Dave Gunther of Wayne State who will outline the conditioning of players.

The afternoon session will feature University of Nebraska assistant Glenn Potter on "combinations in pressure defenses", and Columbus High coach Jack Johnson. Johnson has been on the staff at Ed McCulley's basketball camps and will discuss the "McCulley technique for building a shooter."

A similar clinic was inagurated last year. It was so well received, with over 100 prep schol coaches attending, another was organized, according to Southeast coach Wally McNaught who will act as host.

Sterling New 8-Man Leader

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The ink is barely dry on the paper and the teams selected for the top ten in this week's prep ratings in Class D and eight-man are at it again.

Since this is Teachers Institute Week, the leaders don't get to bask in glory for the usual seven days. Instead most of them are back in action again tonight.

Class D and eight-man rankings remained rather stable from the previous week, although Sterling's convincing win over previously No. 1 Elmwood jetted the Jets all the way to the top spot in the eight-man division.

In Class D eleven-man ball, Pilger and Sumner continue to rank 1-2, just as they have all season. Though Chappell fell from third to fifth, the top five are the same teams as before.

Only one change occured in the Class D top ten. Overton joined the select group for the first time on the strength of a fine record, marred only by an opening game loss to Loomis.

Clay Center was the team to fall victim, disappearing from the ratings after suffering its third loss.

Nebraska Prep Ratings

6—Elwood (6-1)
7—Loomis (5-1)
8—Overton (5-1)
9—Polk (5-1)
10—Davenport (5-1)

Comment — Same five teams in the top half, though Chappell drops to fifth after a loss to Class C Benkelman. Clay Center falls from the top ten after losing to Kenesaw, while Overton joins the group with only an 8-0 loss to Loomis marring its record.

Eight-Man

1—Sterling (6-0)
2—Gresham (6-0)
3—Hardy (5-0)
4—Trenton (5-0)
5—Paxton (5-0)

7—Elmwood (5-1)
8—Platte Center (6-0)
9—Maywood (6-0)
10—Milligan (5-1)

Linstroth Definitely Out

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney said Tuesday that regular defensive right tackle Tom Linstroth would "definitely be out this week" after suffering a jammed neck against Missouri last week and named sophomore Dave Walline to start in Linstroth's place at Oklahoma State Saturday.

Devaney also named two other replacements in the Cornhuskers' starting lineups against O-State, Bill Hornbacher taking Dan Kobza's place at middle guard and, in all probability, Mickey Ziegler going at flanker in place of Larry Frost.

The Husker coach explained one of the switches by saying that Kobza is "a lot better at linebacker than at middle guard" and said that Kobza would be available to play at the fomer position Saturday.

After the Huskers worked for two hours in pads in a controlled scrimmage, the offense on passing and the defense against Oklahoma State plays, Devaney said, "I hope we do a better job of rushing; we haven't been running with a great deal of consistency. Our defensive backs did not tackle consistently against Missouri.

"Frank Patrick has looked real good in practice; he's never given up since he lost his starting job to Ernie Sigler the first week of the season.

"When you watch films of Oklahoma State and Kansas, you wonder how Kansas won as badly as they did."

Same Name Wreaks Havoc For Scotus Foes

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Sports fans, over the past three years, have grown accustomed to the names Kosch and Columbus Scotus going together.

Shamrock opponents breathed a little easier when halfback Bill graduated, played in the Shrine Bowl and left for the University of Nebraska.

But Scotus foes have found it's a little like jumping from the frying pan into the fire. Along came halfback Bob.

The Shamrocks have romped to six straight wins the latest a 40-6 conquest of Schuyler which earned Player-of-theWeek honors for Bob, a 5-10, 170-pound junior.

Playing both ways, Kosch rambled to four touchdowns, booted four extra points, while turning in a tough defensive effort.

With a combination of speed and power, three of his TD dashes were of the long distance variety — 55, 62 and 64 yards.

Others who deserve special recognition for outstanding performances last weekend include:

Bob Perlinger, Paxton — In THE game for supremacy of eight-man football in the west end of the state, Perlinger scored four times from 28, 43, 45 and 60 yards out, to give his Tigers command of the situation in a 40-25 win over Wheatland

Gary Filipi, Milligan — Led his club back into the top ten ratings by scoring twice and getting the vital extra point that topped previously unbeaten Dorchester, 20-19.

Steve Zikmund, Central City — Another who paced his team to a victory over a previously unbeaten foe. Averaged over ten yards per carry as he and his mates registered a triumph over Albion, 25-19.

Jerry Macken, Platte Center — Rushed for 227 yards in a battle of unbeatens. The win over Humphrey placed Platte Center in the top ten.

John McClymont, Loomis — Defensive standout who recovered a fumble and blocked a punt to lead the way for both touchdowns in 14-6 win over Hildreth.

Mike Reese, Diller — Gained 104 yards rushing and 109 passing, scoring once and passing for two more to pace Diller to a 33-26 win over Elk Creek.

Ed Kruse, Genoa — This senior 200-pound workhorse fullback not only played a bruising game both ways, but came through in unerring fashion to boot both extra points in a squeaking 14-13 win over Leigh.

Cowboy Passing Attack Is Setting Record Pace

Kansas City, Mo. — Though it is coming from a heretofore ground-oriented source, the Big Eight Conference has never seen a passing offense like that put together so far by Oklahoma State.

With the biggest aerial production by a league team this season (296 against Kansas), the Cowboys, riding the quick flips of Ronnie Johnson, the Big Eight's leading passer, are now racking up over 193 yards a game overhead. That is nearly 20 yards over the old record of 176 set by Missouri in 1951.

Not only are the Cowboys flying at record pace, but they are also doing it quite efficiently, hitting over 50 per cent of their tries, with 63 successes in 125 tries for 774 yards after four games.

SOUTH SIOUX CITY, NEBRASKA

—4,187 POUNDS OF FISH—

636 State Anglers Cited For Masters

It is a fact that lunker fish reside in Nebraska waters, and to date in 1968 some 636 anglers have received coveted Nebraska Game Commission Master Angler awards for landing giant fish.

These award-winning fishermen landed a total of 4,187 pounds, five ounces of fish, an average in excess of 6½ pounds per catch. And, this average impressively includes several fish under two pounds.

The commission lists 28 species of fish for which a Master Angler Award can be earned, each with its own respective minimum weight. The lightest category is ¾ pound for green sunfish, while the largest is the flathead catfish with a required weight of 25 pounds.

A brief analysis of the awards provides an array of interesting facts. Bait used to entice the fish to hooks ranged from dead minnows to colorful home-made artificials.

Fishing waters were generally well-known lakes and reservoirs, but also included remote creeks and farm ponds. Of 28 anglers earning awards for smallmouth bass, all but three of the fish were taken at Red Willow reservoir.

The vast majority of winners for rainbow trout landed their lunkers at Lake McConaughy, with one angler, Ed Gregory of Ogallala, really cashing in on the rainbows with six awards.

Largemouth bass provided the most awards with 136 anglers landing largemouths weighing five pounds or over. The biggest largemouth caught to date was an eight-pound, 7½-ounce giant taken by Delbert Barker of Benkelman.

New additions to the list of available fish meriting Master Angler awards are green sunfish, Kentucky spotted bass, and redear sunfish. Of all the species now listed, only the chain pickerel and blue catfish have had no 1968 applicants.

Winter Leagues

The city recreation department is now forming leagues for men's baseketball and volleyball.

Entries are to be turned in by Nov. 1 with season classification games to begin in basketball Nov. 11 and the volleyball league to open Nov. 12.

Also being formed is a "slow break" basketball league which eliminates the fast break and full court press and caters to the older basketball players.

Little, Ward Named OSU Co-Captains

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Two junior linemen were named Tuesday to serve as Oklahoma State co-captains in next Saturday's home football game with Nebraska.

Coach Phil Cutchin said the co-captains will be defensive middle guard John Little and offensive tackle John Ward.

Cutchin put the squad through learning drills and contact work Tuesday as the top units worked against Nebraska formations.

For the first time this year the No. 1 units worked out in their home Orange jerseys. The Cowboys have played four straight games on the road.

Iowa State

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State football coach Johnny Majors said Tuesday he has made another personnel change for Saturday's homecoming game against third-ranked Kansas.

Bob Williams, Omaha, Neb., sophomore, will get the starting assignment at the monster linebacker spot in place of Roy Snell. Williams had started the first four games before losing his job to Snell.

The Cyclones ran through a heavy two-hour drill, climaxed by a 13-minute goal line scrimmage.

Missouri

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Veteran Jerry Boyd was promoted to No. 1 right linebacker Tuesday as Missouri started serious preparation for their football game with Kansas State at Manhattan.

Boyd, a junior and starter last season, had lost his job to sophomore Nip Weisenfels.

"Boyd did some things real well against Nebraska last week," Coach Dan Devine said.

Oklahoma

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma football coach Chuck Fairbanks said his Sooners had "a real good practice" Tuesday. Said Fairbanks, "We worked hard and had a lot of enthusiasm."

Reserve quarterback-defensive back Jim Burgar suffered a sprained ankle in practice, and may miss the Colorado game. Fairbanks said he would have to wait and see how Burgar responds to treatment.

Reserve defensive back Joe Pearce was promoted to the first team in place of Ricky Hetherington. Fairbanks said Pearce "played real well" in OU's 42-7 victory over Iowa State last Saturday.

Kansas

Lawrence, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas football coach Pepper Rodgers said Tuesday he plans to take tackle Larry Brown, who has mononucleosis, to Ames, Iowa, Saturday for the Jayhawks game with Iowa State, but would not "go against doctor's orders."

The coach also said fullback Mike Reeves, who had a hip injury, would be ready to play.

Rodgers said the Tuesday practice on a muddy field was "a good practice as far as I could see."

Kansas State

Manhattan, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas State football coach Vince Gibson said Tuesday his team would try to give the ball to wingback Mack Herron more and more each game.

"We're not very smart if we don't get the ball to Herron more," the coach said. "We're not giving it to him or Larry Brown enough."

Howard, Howser Named Coaches For NY Yanks

New York (AP) — Elston Howard, a former Most Valuable Player, and Dick Howser have been named coaches with the New York Yankees, general manager Lee MacPhail announced Tuesday.

Howard, who won the MVP award with the Yankees in 1963, announced his retirement as an active player Monday. He spent the 1967 season with the Boston Red Sox, hitting .241 in 71 games.

Howard, who will be the Yankees' first base coach, becomes the second active Negro coach in the major leagues. Jim Gilliam of the Los Angeles Dodgers is the other.

Howser hit .153 in 85 games with the Yankees. He will be the new third base coach.

Whitey Ford, who was the first base coach last year, will handle other duties this year. Jim Turner remains as the pitching coach and Jim Hegan the bullpen coach.

We haven't done anything new since 1865.

That's our secret of success. We developed a truly smooth, full-bodied sour mash bourbon in 1865. People liked it. They still do. So why change it? If the pace was good enough for the turtle, it's good enough for us.

Probation Plan Training Starts

By DAN LOOKER
Star Staff Writer

The first volunteer probation counselor program in the state of Nebraska began Tuesday night with the initial training session of approximately twenty volunteers.

The assignment of non-professional volunteers to probationers is an alternative to the traditional method of dealing with misdemeanor offenses by fine or penalty, according to Judge Charles F. Noren, who addressed the group at the start of the session.

The traditional approach is not a "solution" to solving the problems of minor criminal offenses, he explained.

Judge Noren said that some 70 cities in the United States have programs similar to the pilot project being started in Lincoln. The first such program wus started in Royal Oak, Michigan.

Cited Study

Judge Noren cited a study which showed that about 77% of the Royal Oak probationers showed improvement after the volunteer probation counselor program was started while a comparable city without such a program showed only about 24% improvement among its probationers.

The Lincoln program is based in part on the Royal Oak program and on one in Denver, which currently enlists the aid of 850 citizen volunteers.

After Judge Noren made the opening remarks the group was shown a film entitled "The Revolving Door," which explained the inadequacies of the current local legal system.

Production Line

The film, which was produced by the President's Crime Commission, described the product of most local courts as "production line justice."

In some courts as many as 25,000 cases per year are heard by one judge and in others 25 defendants may be brought before the bench at one time and given a simultaneous, identical sentence, the film pointed out.

"Many cities spend more on the municipal cemetery than on the city jail," it added, noting that more than half of the nation's local jails are over 50 years old.

Jail, the film said, "offers nothing of value and much that is destructive."

Volunteers Briefed

Dr. James Cole, director of the University of Nebraska Psychological Clinic and Richard Moore of the Clinic, briefed the volunteers after the film.

In a lecture dealing with the question, "Who are the probationers?", Moore stated that "in the lives of most offenders there has never been a single satisfactory relationship with another human being."

Robert J. Keller, chief probation officer of the Lincoln Municipal Court, said in an interview after the meeting that he and part-time probation officer James Allen have been working on their own with 400 probationers.

He said about 130 to 150 of them would benefit from a closer one-to-one relationship with a volunteer counselor.

LAP Takes No Action On Disrupting Dispute

By JOAN McCULLOUGH
Star Staff Writer

Action on problems disrupting the work of the Lincoln Action Program (LAP) was postponed Tuesday night after a three and one-half hour meeting.

Staff members and board members expressed a desire to discuss "both sides" of a personnel problem that had been appealed to the personnel committee after a closed meeting of the LAP board.

The question of termination of the employment of two neighborhood aides, Mrs. Jeanen Kessler of 1224 No. 66th and Mrs. Danna Kolarik of 1525 So. 26th was postponed until Nov. 7 when a special meeting will be held.

Set Policy Debate

The hiring and firing policies of LAP will be debated at the Nov. 7 meeting, also. Executive Director Art May stated in his report that as of June 1, 1968, he delegated the responsibility of terminating employment to the direct supervisor of the employe.

May also proposed that Deputy Director John Callaway be placed on regular employe status. New LAP employes are placed on a probationary period of three months which can be extended.

Other proposals of May's report included bringing the personnel practices of the organization up to date, instituting an effective training program for administrative and supervisory personnel and appointing a special committee to evaluate the work of the executive director.

Postponed

Action on those proposals was also postponed until Nov. 7.

In other bosiness John Shaw was accepted as a new member of the board.

Private agencies and organizations interested in the possibility of membership on the LAP board can request a recommendation from the nominating committee by contacting LAP.

The board approved the committee's recommendation to have 11 members from official agencies, 11 from organizations and 11 from the "target" areas. Those from the target areas will be elected by low-income persons of the area who are at least 18. They must receive three per cent of the votes from eligible voters in the area.

A special committee was appointed to investigate the proposal of a credit union, which would allow any resident of the area to participate. The union would be designed to assist the economic development of poor people by offering low interest rates on loans.

Improvement Plan

A community self-help housing improvement project, presented by Callaway was referred to a committee.

The program was given the support of the Better Lincoln Committee, which will supply $6,000 to it. The federal government will provide the remaining $20,820.

This "quasi-experiment in community organization" aims to provide consultation services to property owners, advise them of all resources available for loans or aid to improve their property, work with neighborhood council to give the group guidance in developing a program of work and conduct an educational experience, including actual classes in the homes, it was noted.

Four staff members and neighborhood aides would work with the program in the Clinton area — between No. 16th, X St., the Burlington railroad tracks and 33rd St.

Housing was established as the number one priority of the board.

The proposal will be also considered at the Nov. 7 meeting for a final vote.

LAP Directors Oppose Tax Ban

Lincoln Action Program (LAP) board of directors went on record Tuesday night in opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit the state from levying an income tax.

In a resolution, unanimously passed by the board, LAP stated the action would increase the sales tax which would impose an unfair burden on the poor.

Trading Cautious In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market backed away cautiously Tuesday amid a rash of inconclusive statements and reports revolving about the possibility of peace moves in Vietnam.

As investors shied away from an uncertain situation, volume dropped to 13.67 million shares from 14.38 million Monday.

The fact that markets will be closed Wednesday in another of the midweek recesses to ease the paperwork jam was another reason for traders to step lightly.

The economic background continued to be good, with many earnings reports exceeding expectations of those who predicted a slump because of the income surtax. But the military situation brought no immediate encouragement to a market which had celebrated last week on what appeared to be convincing rumors of more definite steps toward a bombing pause and other peace moves in Vietnam.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 4.35 to 963.14.

Of 1,563 issues traded, 745 declined and 581 advanced.

New highs for the year totaled 95 and new lows 6.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.0 to 357.8 with industrials off 2.1, rails off .7 and utilities up .4.

Gains and losses were split at seven each among the 15 most active stocks, with North American Car unchanged at 35¼.

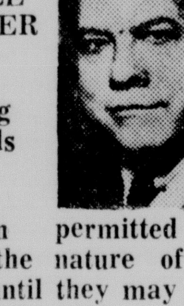
Gulf & Western was the most active stock, up 2½ at 52 on 192,900 shares. The stock was wafted upward amid a flurry of rumors and published reports.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange after an early rise. Volume was 5.4 million shares compared with 5.67 million Monday. The year's turnover to date exceeded the record 1,145 billion traded in all of 1967.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Investment, Speculation Boundary Less Distinct

By Merryle S. Rukeyser



MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Changing Standards

A financially sophisticated security owner filled out a coupon in an ad of a far flung national brokerage firm concerning a specific recommendation.

In the telephone followup, a registered representative — called in simpler times a customer's man — asked, "Do you speculate or invest?" The prospect replied that a proper answer would entail several hours of discussion, and, since he was in a meeting, he asked to be excused.

Before Edgar Lawrence Smith changed investment habits and standards in his landmark book, "Common Stocks as Long Term Investments" in 1927, instructors in finance glibly drew lines of distinction among investment, speculation and gambling.

Gambling, which entails the assumption of unnecessary-risks, such as whether a coin will land on its head or its tail, is still identifiable, but the boundary between investment and speculation has been blurred by the new fashion of how to adjust savings to future needs in a dynamic economy with a monetary inflationary trend.

Simpler Times

In simpler times, investment focussed on conserving savings (capital), and speculation put the accent on making funds grow.

Thus, in former days, trustees were limited to legal investments, which were restricted largely to extremely high grade government and corporate obligations. The objective of investment was to assure safety of principal and regularity of interest payments.

But such fixed dollar investments by definition forswore growth. The arrangement gave certainty in terms of a fixed number of dollars, but profligate politicians upset the significance of the flow of money receipts by fiscal and monetary highjinks to finance demagogic giveaway schemes. These activities, plus external adventures, had the net effect of reducing the buying power of money. Even with stable money, 100% fixed money investment commitments let the parade of corporate growth pass by.

The prudent person, who has read financial history, knows that monetary abuse results in interludes of deflation after overdoses of inflation. Accordingly, he seeks a balanced portfolio, consisting, besides equities which promise growth, of fixed dollar investments which provide income even in times of recession.

Q.—A reader in Leaward, Kan., interested in variable annuities for a disabled youth for whom he has a cash inheritance, states that local insurance agents may not sell variable annuities until the state law is amended and are not even permitted to describe the nature of the contract until they may offer the annuity for sale.

A.—Annuities of various types are primarily attractive for senior citizens—not for persons aged 21, because annuity payments, which exhaust principal, are based on the life expectancy table. Old folks have a short expectancy, whereas those 21 have a long one. The $20,000 fund could be held in trust and divided between high grade, high yielding noncallable bonds, on the one hand, and good yielding common stocks or investment company issues, on the other. I don't undertake to give legal advice, but as a reporter I am aware that some insurance companies, which didn't qualify in New York State, habitually sold contracts across the Hudson River in New Jersey.

Q.—A reader in Honolulu has a variable annuity, and wants to know whether he can diversify his tax deferred funds to additional channels.

A.—Splitting is not advisable. For the regulations, consult either a knowledgeable attorney or your local Internal Revenue Service. Under the Keogh formula, savings institutions and mutual funds, as well as insurance companies, can qualify. Incidentally, there is no long term capital appreciation in variable annuities, though income disbursements may rise. The insurer undertakes to pay as contracted until the annuitant dies. Mutual funds, living trusts, and common stocks offer the possibility of capital gains and of course capital losses.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be handled in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Cattle Market Higher

Omaha (AP) — The slaughter cattle market moved up a bit at Omaha Tuesday. The rally, while modest and limited in the main to fed heifers, was the first measurable upturn in more than a week of slow and steady trades.

Good demand from local independents spurred a steady to 25 higher trade on beef heifers. The market looked firm at the advance. Steers settled for a fully steady trend, with trade in both divisions fairly brisk.

Supplies were moderate, running slightly below a week ago at Omaha and other terminals. The slaughter tab for two days at the 12 markets, however, was more than eight thousand head larger than in the comparable period last week.

Hogs also pulled out of a tailspin and recovered slightly. Butchers sold steady to 25 higher and sows steady to strong. Trade was active.

Fat lambs were steady to weak, instances 25 lower as weight began to be a factor in numerous instances.

Grain Market Nervous

Chicago (AP) — Most commodities closed on a generally higher tone on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday, but prices moved within a relatively narrow range in nervous and visibly cautious dealings.

Trade was rather slow but mixed. Exports of the major commodities were only fair to slow and, with near record soybeans and corn harvests underway, the trade appeared reluctant to hold a position of any volume for too long a time. The Paris talks over the Vietnam war also posed a big question to the trade.

At the close of grain trade, wheat was unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher, December 1.25¾; corn was ⅜ and ⅞ higher, December 1.06½; oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 65½ cents; rye was ⅜ to ½ higher, December 1.17; and soybeans were unchanged to ½ higher, November 2.50¼.

Federal Roads Regulations Offer Public Stronger Voice

© New York Times Service

Washington — The Federal Highway Administration has drafted regulations that officials said would assure the public of a stronger voice in the location and design of highways.

The proposed regulations were to be published Wednesday and will take effect, with possible revisions, after comments by interested persons have been considered.

The decision to issue formal regulations for public hearings and other procedures resulted from widespread complaints by civic, conservationist and other groups that the location and design of highways often disrupted communities or disregarded scenic and other environmental considerations.

Hearings by state highway departments, under comparatively informal procedures of the Bureau of Public Roads, frequently were held without adequate public notice, according to these critics. There have also been complaints of inadequate publicity for highway location and design proposals before their approval by the bureau.

The proposed new regulations are intended to insure that "highway locations and designs reflect and are consistent with federal, state and local goals and objectives," the Federal Highway Administration said.

The regulations would require state highway departments, in public hearings, to give full consideration to a wide range of factors, including social, economic and environmental effects, in considering highway locations and design.

Detailed rules are proposed for publicizing the hearings in advance, for affording the public full opportunity to testify and for consultations with various federal, state and local officials and advisory groups.

First Plaza Corp. Buys Outstanding Stock Of TMI

The First Plaza Corp. Tuesday announced purchase of the outstanding stock of Technical Management, Inc, (TMI) of Lincoln and consolidation of TMI with other companies of First Plaza.

The announcement was made by Dr. Emerson Jones, who will serve as president and chief executive officer of First Plaza and continue as president of TMI.

Technical Management provides both technical and management services to utilities and financial institutions and technically-oriented industries. The company now employs 20 people.

The First Plaza Corp. owns an insurance agency and more than 85% of the outstanding stock of the First National Bank, both located in Westminster, Colo., a suburb of Denver.

The corporation was formed in 1964. Members of the board of directors are Gene C. Eaton, William Gold, Dale C. Tinstman, John C. Mason, Herbert Walt, Gene Tallman and Jones.

Candidate Says He Would Vote Against Proposal

A candidate for the Legislature from Lincoln says if elected he would vote against any attempt to make state offices below the rank of governor and lieutenant governor appointive rather than elective offices.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's Little Hoover Commission recently proposed that such a change be instituted. The proposal is reported to have the support of the governor.

Charles A. Bates of 200 West Saunders said, "Before his election to this office of governor, Mr. Tiemann himself stated that 'all major executive officers should remain elective because an undue concentration of power could ultimately lead to a potentially dangerous situation.'"

"It seems that the governor is now willing to tamper with the state constitution," Bates said, "and therefore someone should be guarding the rights of the people."

Arabs Spit Upon Israeli Building Plans In Jordan

Jenin, Israel-held Jordan (AP) — Jeering, spitting and hurling stones, 100 Arab women and schoolchildren marched through the streets of this occupied city Tuesday and clashed with Israeli police.

A 15-year-old girl and a 24-year-old woman were arrested on charges of spitting in the faces of police officers.

The Arabs were protesting an Israeli plan to build a Jewish suburb alongside the town of Hebron on the west bank of the River Jordan.

They chanted, "We are Fatah" and "Palestine is Arab." El Fatah is an Arab guerrilla group.

N.Y. Exchange To List Central Telephone Stock

The stock of one of the state's largest Nebraska-based corporations, Central Telephone & Utilities Corporation, will be listed on the New York Stock Exchange beginning Oct. 1.

This was a part of information shared with Lincoln business and civic leaders by Clarence H. Ross of Chicago, Central president and chairman of the board. Ross and other Central directors from across the United States attended a noon luncheon with the Lincoln group.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska and formerly of David City, Nebr., Ross reported that Central, formerly known as Western Power and Gas, now has more than one million gas, electric, water and telephone customers combined. The company has a 1968 budget of $85 million.

With gross revenue of $158 million, he said, Central earnings are increasing $1 million every month compared with the same month a year ago. There are 45,000 Central gas customers in Lincoln.

Toral Duckett of Lincoln, executive vice president and general manager, noted that Central had a 1967 payroll of $40.5 million in utility operations throughout 13 states.

Central is expected, by the spring of 1970, to be occupying new quarters in the First National Bank Building. At the same time, the bank will be moving into a new 20-story office building on the northwest corner of 13th and M.

Hart To Speak

Jack Hart, editorial page editor of the Lincoln Journal, will assess the political situation as he sees it and discuss his impressions of the Republican National Convention at the Thursday noon meeting of the Sertoma Club at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Thant: Moon Closer

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Tuesday the Apollo 7 feat "has undoubtedly brought much closer the day of manned flight to the moon, and beyond."

DENNEY TELLS FACTS ABOUT 345-KV LINE

"Just check the record to see who was First District Congressman when funds were authorized and appropriated for the 345-KV transmission line into Nebraska from South Dakota.

"This line is being built and I am proud this accomplishment came during my term in the 90th Congress.

"If someone else takes credit for this, it is a simple case of distorting the facts!"

* * * * *

"The appropriation for the (345 KV) line was discovered to be all but lost in the House and Senate action. But the discovery was made in time and Rep. Robert Denney and Senators Curtis and Hruska went to work and reversed the appropriation gears. The trio did a commendable job and the net result is that Nebraska will now have the long awaited and hotly disputed Ft. Thompson line."

Pollution Sampling Equipment Idle

Omaha (AP) — Some $13,000 worth of equipment in 18 air pollution sampling stations in Omaha was idle Tuesday for lack of money.

"Most times we have beautiful air in Nebraska. It doesn't get polluted like it does in Chicago and the east," said Don Olson, associate chief of the environmental health division of the Omaha-Douglas County Health Department. "Clean air is a priceless thing. Isn't it woth a little effort to keep it that way?"

The department sampled the air for almost three years before the stations closed June 30 because of a cut in the department budget.

The samplings showed that Omaha's air wasn't getting any worse, but wasn't getting any cleaner either, Olson said.

Olson estimated $8,000 to $10,000 a year would be enough to operate six to eight sampling stations so the area "would not get caught" by a sudden increase in pollution.

Joseph A. Rogers, chief of the City Permits and Inspection Division, said he expects his stafff to complete a draft of an air pollution ordinance within a week.

He said he did not consider Omaha's air pollution serious now, although, as more and more industry moves in, "the potential is there."

LeMay Planning Des Moines Stop

Des Moines (UPI) — The American independent party's vice presidential candidate, retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay, is scheduled to appear here next Monday.

Robert Dilley, the party's Iowa chairman said LeMay's tentative schedule calls for a news conference and a fund-raising luncheon at the Kirkwood Hotel at Noon.

LeMay is scheduled to leave Des Moines at 1:30 p.m. and fly to Omaha to attend a dinner and spend the night.

No Fire Engine

Blantyre, Malawi (AP) — The bush fire season is here and Blantyre's only fire engine is out of action permanently after smashing into a tree. The fire brigade is making do with a truck and a land-rover.

NU Wool Judging Team Places 5th

Kansas City, Mo. — The University of Nebraska wool and livestock judging teams placed fifth and 12th, respectively, in the intercollegiate judging contests held n connection with the Amercan Royal Livestock Show here.

In a field of 25 college and university teams, the NU livestock team placed third in quarter horses and ninth in beef cattle.

Larry Nelson of Alliance was 11th high individual overall in the contest with 893 points. Other NU team members, in order of descending point totals, were Don Geweke, Ord; Gary White, Lexington; Steve England, North Platte; and Tom Dearmont, Rose.

The teams are coached by Prof. R. B. Warren of the NU Animal Science Department.

Landrum: Quit Coddling, Pampering Youngsters

Alliance — "Working with the juvenile delinquency problems in America is like trying to fight a raging prairie fire with a 'water pistol', while high courts, government agencies, penal institutions and educators stand by fanning the flames," declared James F. Landrum of Gering, president of the Scotts Bluff County juvenile court committee.

Speaking to a meeting of parents and teachers at Alliance Tuesday night, Landrum said national research reveals that the family, correctional institutions, the school system and the church share in the blame for the rapid growth of juvenile delinquency.

"The solution will not come until we are willing to untie the hands of the juvenile court and law officials," Landrum predicted.

He advised his listeners to be firm in discipline and quit coddling and pampering youths.

"Network television, local television and sponsors of sadistic and violent programs have shown a complete disrespect for American children by putting the dollar sign ahead of meaningful educational responsibility," he charged.

"Parents who use the TV as a babysitter and allow their children to watch such programs are contributing to the future breakdown of American culture and future delinquency," he added.
